THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION.

VOL. XXI. ATLANTA, GEORGIA, TUESDAY MORNING, JULY 17, 1888. PRICE FIVE CENTS.

NO HONOR VIOLATED.

And the News Came From an Authoritative Source.

STATEMENT BY OUR CORRESPONDENT

At Washington In Regard to a "Scoop" He Made on Other Correspondents—Gossip From the Federal Capitol.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—[Special.]—There appeared in these dispatches a few days ago a statement that the conferees of the senate and house having in charge the river and harbor bill had stricken out the senate amendment providing for a twenty-eight foot channel at Savannah, and reduced the amount of the general appropriation for the Savannah harbor from $200,000 to $180,000. This was incorporated in these dispatches upon the authority of a member of the conference committee of the house, whose name will be mentioned if necessary, and who made the statement to correspondents as a matter of news. There was no injunction of secrecy laid upon any one in disseminating this information through the newspapers. There was no honor violated, as the information came through the natural news channels, which was free to every one who possessed sufficient newspaper enterprise to go and get it.

Since this was printed exclusively in THE CONSTITUTION, the alleged correspondent or misrepresentative of a paper printed in Macon, who got left on this, as well as many other items of news pertaining to the state of Georgia, has, with some degree of persistency, denied the truthfulness of THE CONSTITUTION'S statement, and alleges that the information was printed after coming under the seal of honor not to print it. This is a lie. The correspondent about Washington in possession of great pieces of information, which he is holding, waiting for consent from able statesmen to print it, always gets left. It is the duty of THE CONSTITUTION'S representative to give its readers all the fresh news within his province to collect, whether it may or may not please any representative in congress.

It is understood that Mr. Norwood is the gentleman referred to as being "in position to know" who is charged with having told the alleged correspondent that the conference committee had not determined upon striking out the senate amendment as above referred to. In conversation tonight with Mr. Norwood in the Metropolitan hotel he stated that he had made no such statement to any correspondent. The alleged secrecy with which committees carry on business is one of the innumerable frauds and myths about the halls of congress. There is no such thing and the correspondent who believes there is and never goes to find out to the contrary would have made a great reputation for himself during the dark ages. This alleged secrecy of committee work is like the supposed secrecy of an executive session of the senate which is always known to any correspondent who has sufficient enterprise and loyalty to his paper to ask any senator who was present and find out. The alleged correspondent of the Macon paper should acquaint himself with the legitimate methods of procuring fresh news and never be bluffed out under the belief that congress has a secret method of carrying on its business.

WARM WEATHER RUSHING THINGS.

Today has been quite warm here, and probably for that reason, in order to adjourn early, the members of the house went to work in earnest on the tariff bill, adopted the free wool clause and almost concluded the bill. They did more today than in any day since the tariff debate began, and it is highly probable its consideration will be completed by tomorrow afternoon. If that be the case, a vote can be taken on Saturday or Monday, as at least three or four days will have to be given for absent members to return.

When the internal revenue clause of the bill was reached there was a short, but lively, debate. Mr. Wise, of Virginia, spoke in favor of repealing the tax on tobacco in all forms, including cigars and cigarettes, and offered an amendment to that effect. Mr. Johnson, of North Carolina, then after a brief but strong argument offered an amendment to Mr. Wise's amendment repealing the internal revenue system. Mr. McMillin vigorously opposed it, saying the internal revenue tax yields $120,000,000 annually, while the entire surplus was only $70,000,000, and wanted to know how the deficiency should be raised. Mr. Candler, of Georgia, promptly replied: "By an income tax." Mr. Johnson said, in concluding his argument, he had two reasons for offering the amendment—one because he and the people he represented wanted the revenue laws repealed and the other was that he wanted to see if the republican party was sincere in their platform adopted at Chicago, calling for the repeal of the internal revenue. No republican replied, but when a vote was taken they proved their insincerity, for only seven republicans outside those from Virginia and North Carolina, voted for the amendment; while there were twenty on the democratic side, including all the Virginia and North Carolina members, and Mr. Candler, of Georgia.

When the vote was announced by the speaker, Mr. Johnson, of North Carolina, rose and said that he was very much disappointed at the smallness of the vote, and asked, "What has become of the republican party?"

This caused a general outburst of applause from the democratic side, while there was hardly a republican, including Tom Reed, who didn't wear the imprint of cowardice. The truth was they were afraid to face the music in view of the fact of the democratic campaign cry against them, favoring free whisky and high taxation on clothing. If the republicans had been in earnest they could have adopted Mr. Johnson's amendment, as a sufficient number of democrats would have voted with them to have carried it. As it was, the republicans skulked and disproved their own sincerity.

WHAT THE SENATE WILL DO.

A senator from Iowa said today relative to the probable action of the senate on the tariff, that his impression is that the senate will feel called upon to pass a tariff bill as a matter of duty, although it made the delay of adjournment for several weeks. He thinks the matter can be disposed of in thirty days after the reception of the Mills bill from the house. Being asked upon what principle the senate bill would be based, he replied:

"On the principle of protection to our own industries. It will not be similar to the Mills bill in any respect. None of the details have yet been agreed upon, but we have been getting information and after this coming week we shall do a good deal of work on it. We are getting on with the different schedules as fast as we can. We are going to reduce some and probably increase some. We shall deal with the internal revenue and shall probably abolish the entire tobacco tax. I am merely giving my personal impressions, for the matter has not been acted on. We shall not take off the whisky tax, but shall probably take off the tax on alcohol used in the arts if it can be done safely."

He further stated that a reduction of $60,000,000 to $70,000,000 would be about all the country could afford. The bill might not be entirely satisfactory, but any tariff bill, he said, had got to be a compromise, and it should be made as nearly equitable as possible to the different sections.

The senate will probably go in executive session tomorrow to confirm the nomination of Mr. Fuller for chief justice.

It is the fixed purpose of the friends of Mr. Fuller to procure an early determination of the case, and it will require something of unusual importance in the senate to cause them to defer their plan for tomorrow. A canvass made by a friend of Mr. Fuller indicates that he will be confirmed by not less than five majority, and some predict that not a dozen votes will be cast against him.

Senator Colquitt and Major Barnes today appeared before the senate appropriation committee in the interest of the appropriation of $30,000 for a government exhibit at the Augusta exposition.

Senator Colquitt also asked a similar appropriation for the Columbus show. It is highly probable that the committee will grant the requests, although the members have not committed themselves.

NEW MAIL ROUTE.

Mr. Grimes has had a daily mail route established from the Chalybeate to the Warm Springs with postoffices at Bussey's and at the Warm Springs depot on the Georgia Midland and Gulf railway. Mr. W. T. Bussey is the postmaster at "Bussey's" and Mr. Bulloch at the Warm Springs depot. This does not interfere with the Warm springs office.

A MONUMENT TO GENERAL CLARKE

The Senate Passes an Appropriation of $25,000 to Erect a Shaft.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—In the senate the house bill authorizing the Richmond and Danville Railroad company to lay tracks in the district of Columbia was reported and placed on the calendar.

Mr. Hoar, from the committee on library, reported back the senate bill appropriating $25,000 for the purpose of erecting a monument to General George Rogers Clarke in the city of Louisville, Ky., instead of Washington, D. C., in recognition of his eminent services to his country in the occupation and conquest of the northwestern territory during the revolutionary war.

The bill was passed, after remarks in eulogy of General Clarke by Messrs. Hoar, Daniel, Sherman, Voorhees and Blackburn.

The senate then proceeded to the consideration of the fishery treaty in open executive session, and was addressed by Mr. Pugh in favor of its ratification.

Mr. Chandler followed in opposition to ratification.

Mr. Teller obtained the floor and the treaty went over till tomorrow.

Two vetoes of pension bills were presented, read and referred to the committee on pensions. In one case the president declares himself entirely satisfied that the case had been properly determined by the pension bureau. In the other case no application had been made to the pension bureau, which was accounted for by the fact that the husband of the proposed pensioner, who had, himself been drawing a pension for a wound had been killed by a pistol ball in a personal encounter.

The senate bill for the adjustment of accounts of laborers, workmen and mechanics arising under the eight hour law was then taken up and advocated by Mr. Blair.

At the close of his remarks the senate proceeded to executive business, Mr. Blair giving notice that he would ask action on the bill tomorrow (Wednesday being the last day on which it can be acted on in the house).

The senate adjourned.

WOOL ON THE FREE LIST.

Great Progress Made With the Mills Bill in the House.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—The call of states for the introduction of bills having been dispensed with, the house went into committee of the whole, (Mr. Springer in the chair) on the tariff bill, the woolen schedule being pending.

Mr. E. B. Taylor, of Ohio, in opposing the schedule, argued that the passage of the bill would not benefit the consumer of wool. It would not reduce the price of wool in this country after it had been in operation sufficiently long to destroy home industry. Wool had been placed on the free list, simply because the president recommended it, and the president knew no more why he recommended it than Dickens's fat boy knew why he went to sleep so much.

At the suggestion of Mr. Mills, of Texas, it was agreed that a vote should be taken on the free wool clause at 1 o'clock today.

After a brief argument of Mr. Breckinridge, of Kentucky, in favor of the free wool clause, Mr. Wilkins, of Ohio, moved to strike wool from the free list.

On division, the vote stood 93 to 122, and the announcement was received with applause on the democratic side.

Messrs. Sowden, of Pennsylvania, and Wilkins and Foran, of Ohio, were the only democrats voting in the affirmative, while Mr. Anderson, of Iowa, voted in the negative. Mr. Butterworth, of Ohio, wished to effect an arrangement by which a yea and nay vote might be taken in the house, but Mr. Mills declined to comply.

Tellers were then ordered and Mr. Wilkins's motion was defeated—yeas 102, nays 120.

Mr. Mills offered an amendment striking out the clause imposing a duty of 30 per cent ad valorem on carpet and carpetings and inserting a clause imposing a duty of six cents per square yard on hemp and jute carpetings; of 20 per cent ad valorem on floor matting and floor mats exclusively of vegetable substances, and of 40 per cent ad valorem on all other carpets and carpetings, druggets, bookings, mats, rugs, screens, covers, hassocks, besides of wool, flax, cotton, or parts of either or other material. Agreed to.

Mr. Boothman, of Ohio, then called up his amendment offered some days ago, restoring the wool tariff of 1867, and it was rejected—59 to 95.

On motion of Mr. Mills the date on which the free wool clause shall go into effect was fixed as October 1st, 1888, and the date for the taking effect of the woolen schedule was fixed as January 1st, 1889.

This disposed of the wool schedule.

At Mr. Lehlback's request the paragraph relating to bonnets, hoods, etc., was passed over for the time.

Mr. Mills moved that the paragraph concerning card cloth be amended so as to increase the duty from 15 to 20 cents per square foot, and in case of such cloth made of tempered steel wire, from 25 to 40 cents per square foot. Adopted.

Other committee amendments offered by Mr. Mills and adopted were striking out india rubber fabric, the paragraph fixing the duty on kaolin at $1 per ton for crude and $2 for china clay, or wrought kaolin, and placing the duty on rough marble in blocks and squared at 40 cents per cubic foot.

This completed the consideration of the essentially tariff features of the bill, (except in regard to such paragraphs as have been passed over informally,) and the administrative portion of measure was taken up.

Mr. Buchanan, of New Jersey, offered an amendment providing that no goods produced in whole or in material part of convict labor shall be imported for the purpose of sale or trade. Rejected.

On motion of Mr. Breckinridge, of Arkansas, an amendment was adopted excluding from the provisions of the section which provides that ad valorem duties shall include the value of cartons, cases, boxes, etc., in which merchandise is imported; such boxes, sacks and coverings as are usual and necessary coverings for machinery.

On motion of Mr. Mills, an amendment was adopted fixing October 1st, 1888, as the date upon which the repeal of taxes on manufactured chewing tobacco, smoking tobacco and snuff shall go into effect.

Mr. Wise, of Virginia, moved to include in the repeal taxes on cigars, cheroots and cigarettes. If the Mills bill were passed, he said, the reduction of the surplus would not be as large as some gentlemen supposed. In no other way could there be so sure a reduction of the surplus as by the repeal of the tobacco tax. By lowering the tariff it might be that the revenue would be increased, and he believed that in many instances it would be. [Applause on republican side.]

Mr. Nelson, of Minnesota, in opposing the motion, sent to the clerk's desk and had read an article written by Professor R. M. Smith, of Columbia college, in which he declares that it would be a serious financial mistake for the government to give up the revenue derived from internal taxation.

Mr. Johnson, of North Carolina, moved to amend Mr. Wise's motion by providing for the repeal of all internal taxes on spirits distilled from grain or fruit of any kind. He did not want, he said, free brandy or free whisky, but he wanted to see his people free from the oppression of almost military law.

Mr. Johnston's motion was lost by 27 to 135.

When the vote was announced Mr. Johnston inquired, in an astonished tone of voice, which caused much laughter: "What has become of the republican party? I thought it was going to vote with me?"

Mr. Yost, of Virginia, offered an amendment similar in effect to that offered by Mr. Wise, and he said that if Virginia stood as solidly against all assaults of Mr. Mills' bill as it did in regard to the tobacco feature of it, it would be of great benefit to that state. Tobacco was as much a product of the soil as corn or grain, and why there should be restriction on the sale of an agricultural product was something beyond his understanding.

Mr. Yost's amendment was defeated—64 to 85.

Mr. Sowden, of Pennsylvania, offered an amendment abolishing the tax on spirits distilled from apples, peaches, and other fruits.

Pending a vote the committee rose. The speaker announced as the select committee to investigate the importation of contract labor Messrs. Ford, Oates, Spinola, Guenther and Morrow.

The house adjourned.

WRECKS ON THE RAIL.

A Broken Rail Throws a Train Off the Track—Through a Bridge.

WINNEMUCCA, Nev., July 16.—Express train No. 3 was wrecked about daylight Sunday morning thirty-three miles west of here by a broken rail. The engine passed over safely, but a fruit, baggage and United States fish commissioners' car were badly wrecked. All the sleepers were thrown off the track, but no passengers were hurt.

CLARENDON, Tex., July 16.—In the consequence of a washout on the Fort Worth and Denver railroad a northbound passenger train was precipitated through a bridge early yesterday morning. Engineer Smith and Fireman Wilson were instantly killed and a number of passengers were badly shaken up.

Lofton Is In Jail.

WAYNESBORO, Ga., July 16.—[Special.]—Anthony Walker, colored, was shot by a white man named Lofton, who overlooked the plantation of Mr. D. B. Frost. The negro has been arrested, and was put in jail as soon as Dr. McMaster could extract fifty shot from his back. Why Lofton has not been arrested is not known. There are different versions, and the most favorable one for Lofton, which comes from Lofton himself, is that the negro had not been working his crop and he refused to issue him rations. The negro replied that he would have his rations or else kill somebody, at the same time exhibiting his pistol. Lofton left for his house and got his gun. In the meanwhile the negro ran off, but Lofton, taking a short cut, got near enough to shoot him in the back as he was running from him.

CONVICTS IN BIRMINGHAM.

Registering in Large Numbers for the Purpose of Voting.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 16.—[Special.]—There are four coal mines in this, Jefferson county, employing convict labor, and about 1,200 convicts are employed. A few days ago a committee went to work to ascertain if any ex-convicts had registered to vote in the August election. The committee have not yet completed their labors, but they have ascertained that about 1,200 ex-convicts are now living in the county, and about four hundred of them have registered, expecting to vote at the next election. It is believed that many others have registered under assumed names. On election day detectives will be stationed at every voting place, and every ex-convict who attempts to vote will be arrested. Those who have registered and do not try to vote will be prosecuted for perjury About two-thirds of the ex-convicts are negroes.

The Young Man Skipped.

SAVANNAH, Ga., July 16.—[Special.]—William Hall, the negro who stole $35 from Mr. Flint, the jeweler, last week, was tried before Judge Harden. The evidence was strong against Hall, and he was sentenced to twelve months on the chaingang. He was given twelve months more for vagrancy. He has just finished a sentence of ten months. But before the prisoners were carried back to the jail Hall had a talk with his mother. Several parties were moving in and out of the court-room, and a few minutes later, when one of the officers looked for Hall, he was not to be seen. He had walked out of the room, and was off. Officers immediately started out to look for him, but he had made good his escape.

Augusta's Double Track Road.

AUGUSTA, Ga., July 16.—[Special.]—The street railroad company began today to lay a double track on Broad street. The double line will extend from the street car stables to the cemetery, about two and a half miles. Cars will run every five minutes in either direction. This is the only double track street car line in the southeast. A new line is also being laid from the corner of Broad and Seventh street to connect with the new exposition depot, which is being put up by the Georgia railroad.

Naming Candidates in Chattanooga.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., July 16.—[Special.]—The democratic county convention met today and nominated John Staillern for sherriff and W. R. Hall for tax assessor. The nomination was made for county trustee. There are fourteen justices of the peace to be elected in Chattanooga at the August election. Only eight candidates were named. The other six candidates will be named at a citizens meeting.

Mr. Randall's Condition.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Mr. Randall continues to improve rapidly, and his family are already discussing the feasibility of removing him to some quiet place in short time. His summer home at Paoli is thought to be too far distant from his medical adviser's abode, and it is probable that Chestnut Hill, a suburb of Philadelphia, will be chosen.

The Spartanburg Democrats.

CHARLESTON, S. C., July 16.—[Special.]—The democratic county convention of Spartanburg today fixed September 11th as the day for the primary elections. D. R. Duncan was indorsed for congress from the fourth district. A resolution indorsing the Clemson bequest was voted down.

Advices from the Piedmont region report the drouth broken by good rains.

Extending the Pensions.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Representative Morrill, of Kansas, from the committee on invalid pensions, today, reported favorably to the house, the senate bill to extend the benefit of the pension laws to ex-confederates who, having had their disability removed have since enlisted and become disabled in the United States navy.

Shot His Daughter's Assailant.

SAVANNAH, Ga., July 16.—Louis C. Love, a traveling salesman, was arrested at Quitman, Ga., Sunday night, for attempt to rape a young lady. This afternoon the sheriff started to take him to an adjoining town. When about five miles from the place where he was arrested, the father of the young lady overtook them and shot Love, killing him instantly.

The Prison Reformers.

BOSTON, July 16.—The Prison Reform congress met in annual session today, more delegates present than at any other meeting.

BOWLES AS A MASHER.

New Development in the Dynamite Trials.

BOWLES AND HIS LITTLE FLIRTATION.

A Conference Between Railroad Officials and Chief Arthur and Sargent—Interview With Chairman Hoge.

CHICAGO, July 16.—The sensational developments in the trial of "Q." dynamiters and the hope of more startling disclosures brought a large crowd today to Judge Gresham's court-room where Commissioner Hoyne is hearing evidence. If the defendants are convicted of carrying and dealing in explosives, which is only punishable by a fine, they can schedule out under the poor debtors act. The United States officials, its said, have decided, in view of this fact, to bring the charge of conspiracy, a crime which can be punished by two years' imprisonment in the penitentiary or a fine of $10,000, or both. This charge, it was intimated, might be brought today. Bowles, since confessing, has been kept in the office of the United States marshal and allowed to sleep on a lounge, which was brought in for his comfort.

Two pleasant-looking women were brought into the crowded courtroom and given seats behind the desk. One of them was said to be a woman to whom Bowles, though a married man, made love while on his dynamite expedition in Indiana, and whose presence in court, brought about by the prosecution, had, more than anything else, induced Bowles to confess in order to head off a suit for divorce.

Alexander Smith, the Aurora brotherhood fireman who turned informer, was the first witness called. He was interrupted at the very outset by Lawyer David, for the defense, moving that all evidence concerning Informer Bowles be stricken out on the ground that he was not now under investigation. Mr. David also asked to have the testimony of Kelly and of Witness Lloyd nullified because they mentioned none of the defendants but Bowles, and the evidence was therefore incompetent.

District Attorney Ewing contended that it would be shown that dynamite was purchased and delivered by some, at least, of the defendants.

The court then let it stand, and then Smith was taken off the box and J. J. Kelly, Chairman Hoge's clerk, was called to admit that he had given the name of Charles Cordell in a flirtation he had with two ladies in Chicago in 1881. The name, witness claimed, was taken by him purely in fun. Considerable badgering by a lawyer for the brotherhood followed.

The examination of informer Smith was then started again, when Lawyer Donohue, for the prisoners, interrupted him with an instruction that he need not answer if he would thereby criminate himself and that he need not testify unless he so desired. The court confirmed these instructions and then Mr. Smith proceeded with his testimony, unhesitatingly, confirming the case so startlingly outlined the first day of the trial by District Attorney Ewing for the prosecution. Smith was retired before the beginning of the afternoon session, having been subjected to a cross-examination of great length by the defendant's counsel. They failed of their purpose to get him to contradict himself, but did establish the fact that he knew nothing about the dynamite found on the train when Broderick, Bowles and Wilson were arrested.

TALKING WITH THE CHIEFS.

A conference was held this afternoon at the office of the C. B. & Q. railroad, at which the road was represented by President Perkins, vice-President Beasly, General Manager Stone, Wirt Dexton and J. W. Blithe. The other side was represented by Chief P. M. Arthur, of locomotive engineers, Chief F. P. Sargent, of the firemen and Alexander Sullivan, their counsel. The arrival of Chiefs Arthur and Sargent in Chicago had been kept a well guarded secret and neither registered at any hotel till the conference was over. Hoge and Murphy were also present. The officials of the two brotherhoods at once assured the railroad men that they had no sympathies with lawlessness in any form, and the entire interview was courteous and cordial throughout, and narrowly led to a general talk concerning the situation as it affected the public and parties to the struggle. All agreed that it would be well if the strike could be ended. Mr. Perkins, when seen, said:

"Yes, there has been a conference. Arthur, Sargent and Sullivan and their counsel came to say that they did not countenance violence, and have no sympathy with the dynamiters. Hoge and Murphy were present at a portion of the conference. We had much talk over the situation, and they agreed that the strike ought to be declared off. Nothing was definitely settled, however. It is hoped that some good may come of it."

It was impossible to find either Arthur or Sargent tonight, and a reporter for the associated press called on Hoge. Touching the meeting, Hoge said:

"Propositions were submitted by both sides of the controversy, looking toward a settlement of the strike. What these propositions were I am not at liberty to state. They have not been tangible form, and will not till another conference is held, which will be in a few days."

Mr. Hoge then showed the reported telegram which was sent from Davenport, Ia., to W. F. Gould, and read as follows:

Owing to certain events, the men at this point decide we had better adopt extreme measures.

"This is only one of many telegrams of a similar nature," said the chairman, "which have reached us today. This is addressed to Chairman Gould, of Rock Island, grievance committee, and it shows which way the color wind is blowing."

He then went on to say that a general meeting of grievance committees of nearly every line running out of Chicago is to be held this week. There would be thirty of their chairmen, who represent the brotherhood on their respective systems.

"What will be the object of the meeting?" asked the reporter.

"Action will be taken to resist the wholesale arrests and prosecutions which have occurred in Chicago during the past ten days. These are the events I referred to in the dispatch I have just shown you."

"What does the writer of the dispatch mean when he speaks of 'extreme measures?'"

"That remains to be seen. It may mean a strike on the roads represented, or it may mean boycott on the 'Q,' which would eventually terminate in a strike. The meeting will decide that question."

"Do you think there will be a strike?"

"Well, the men on the Grand Trunk and Rock Island, among others, are very sore over these arrests and will certainly strike when the time comes. They do not believe in dynamite, neither do they believe in persecutions."

"Will this meeting have power to declare a strike without the sanction of Chief Arthur?"

"Yes, sir; and they will do so, if necessary. The support of Chief Arthur is only for its moral and financial support. But at the same time the chairman of any system can declare a strike on a road, provided three of the brotherhood men employed there desire it."

In a later interview, Chairman Hoge is said to have stated that satisfactory arrangements have been made by which the "Q" road is not to be subjected to any further molestation growing out of the strike, which was to be declared off, and the road in turn would cease its prosecution of those arrested in the dynamite conspiracy.

Grant Locomotive Works Closed.

PATERSON, N. J., July 16.—The Grant Locomotive works, of Paterson, have been compelled to shut down being unable to compete with similar establishments elsewhere. There are a few elevated engines in the shop to be finished and but fifty out of the usual force of 600 to 700 are retained to complete them. It is estimated it would involve the outlay of $150,000 to $200,000 to place the establishment in a condition to compete successfully with great locomotive building works throughout the country. The closing of this establishment will be sorely felt by the iron workers of Paterson.

KEATING WILL RESIGN.

Western Iron Manufacturers' Association Dissatisfied With the Scale.

PITTSBURG, July 16.—The report of dissatisfaction among members of the Western Iron Manufacturers' association caused by certain members signing the amalgamated scale was confirmed this morning by President Keating, who authorized the statement that he intended to hand in his resignation at the first meeting of the association, and also that Seug & Co., will withdraw from it. Keating has not yet called a meeting, though he expressed the opinion that one would be called this week. It is then expected that not only Seug & Co., but other firms will withdraw while others will not be represented, with the result that the association is not likely to cease to exist. Members are generally of opinion that a disruption of the manufacturers' association would be a bad move both for the employer and employe. Officials are anxious that an effort be made to have it continued, and offer to co-operate so that both manufacturers and workers can hold conferences in the future the same as in the past. One signature, that of P. L. Kimberly & Co., was added to the scale today. The works started up in all departments at once.

CUT TO THE HEART.

A Frightful Tragedy in a Missouri Town on Saturday.

LEXINGTON, Mo., July 16.—[Special.]—A well digger, named Samuel Sams, was placed in the county jail here last night, charged with the murder of a man named William Jackson, the preceding afternoon. The affray occurred in the public road, near Dover, in the neighborhood of which the two men farmed. Sams lived in a house belonging to a widow, for whom Jackson was agent. He got behind with the rent, and Jackson was pressing him for its collection, but being unsuccessful gave him notice to vacate the premises, to which notice Sams paid no heed. Saturday Jackson, with a brother, went riding in a buggy. They met Sams, who was on a horse. The three men stopped in the road, and Sams was asked when he intended to move. He replied that it would not be until it suited him, and he could not be hurried. When asked if he intended to pay the rent he said he had already paid it twice. Jackson contradicted this, which caused angry words, and Sams called him a d—d liar. Jackson said he would stand a great deal, but he could not take that, and, leaving his buggy, said he would whip Sams. The latter dismounted, and, as Jackson came up to him, he struck him a sweeping sidelong blow with a knife, which severed the main artery of the heart. Sams when brought in was bound with rope enough to have held half a dozen men. He is to be taken to Dover during the week for a preliminary hearing.

TIRED OF HER CHILD.

A Young Woman's Effort to Dispose of Her Infant.

SAVANNAH, Ga., July 16.—[Special.]—A rather pretty young woman, apparently not over twenty-two or twenty-three years of age, dressed in deep mourning, walked into the Central railroad depot last night, just before the western bound night express went out, carrying in her arms a young child, which she offered to anybody who would take it. Just before the train went out she went to the stewardess, and begged her to take the little one and give it to somebody. She said that she could not carry it back to her home. She told the stewardess that she lived in the country, and that her husband is dead and that she had no means of supporting the child.

As she told her story the tears ran down her cheeks and were lost in the silken hair of the little girl baby that she held close in her arms.

"It's my little girl," she said, "but I'm not able to take care of her."

The woman said that she came to the city on the 5 o'clock train for the purpose of getting rid of the child. She went to the hospitals, but they would not take the babe. No one would have it. She said that she lived at Midville with her mother who has a house full of little children; she was driven by poverty to the steps she took. She was overcome with grief, and sobbed violently when she found that she would be unable to dispose of the child. The stewardess assisted her on board the train and she left, carrying back the little one that she tried to give away to whoever would take it.

MURDERED BY INDIANS.

Several Members of the Hudson Bay Company Killed.

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 16.—A special to the Pioneer Press from Victoria, B. C., says: There is great excitement over reports from Skeena river. The steamer "Caribon Fly" arrived this morning. Its officers say that when the steamer left Skeena river, it was reported there that Mr. Clifford, in charge of the Hudson Bay company at Hazelton, and one of the special constables sent from here, had been murdered by Indians. The Indians are thoroughly excited, and threaten to exterminate all the whites in that part of the country. H. B. Roger, of Provincal, leaves on Monday for the scene of trouble with a force of special policemen. The steamer Caroline arrived Saturday night and will probably convey a force and "C" battery to the mouth of the Sheena river. It will be impossible for her to ascend the Sheena, owing to the low water and the rapids. The only way troops can go up is in canoes, and it is estimated this will occupy about three weeks, as the distance is ninety miles to the scene of the trouble. The Indians who are causing the trouble are the worst on the coast, and are large, powerful fellows, and nearly all well armed.

TWO BROTHERS KILLED

In a Sunday Row in Henry County, Virginia.

DANVILLE, Va., July 16.—On Sunday last a party of men gathered at Axton, Henry county, and made merry with whisky and hard cider. Lee Eanes tried to drive his mule over Hannibal Turner. Turner struck Eanes with a barrel stave. Eanes alighted and hot words followed. Gus Eanes took Lee's part and D. E. Davis stepped up and declared he would defend Turner. Gus Eanes told Davis he was not afraid of him, when Davis drew a pistol and shot him dead. He then turned and shot Lee Eanes twice, inflicting mortal wounds, after which he fled to the woods, brandishing his pistol and knife. The Eanes boys have many relatives in the county, and much excitement prevails. If Davis is caught he will probably be lynched.

THE GREAT RATE CUT.

Six Cents Per Hundred Pounds of Beef Chicago to New York.

CHICAGO, Ill., July 16.—The Erie and Chicago and Atlantic made their usual cut in rate on dressed beef today, dropping one cent to six cents per one hundred pounds from Chicago to New York. For the first time since the fight began the Vanderbilt and Pennsylvania lines failed to meet the cut. A consultation was held by the freight men of the Michigan Central, Lake Shore, Pan Handle and Pittsburg, Wayne and Chicago, resulting in an agreement to ignore the action of the Chicago and Atlantic for one day. The trouble is that the Vanderbilt and Pennsylvania roads are getting no dressed beef business, now that the rate is so low that every carload represents a loss to the companies handling it.

The Chicago and Atlantic has carried no dressed beef out of Chicago for several days, for the reason that it gave notice to shippers last week that at the present low rates their shipment would have to take the chances with ordinary freight instead of being forwarded by special fast freight trains. The agents of the other lines declare they will give shippers the best service their lines afford. It is now the general belief that there will be no further reductions of the dressed beef and cattle rate, but it is possible that other commodities will be attacked.

PARNELL VERY MAD

At the Way He Was Treated

BY THE LEADER OF THE GOVERNMENT

The House of Commons Passes the Inquiry Bill—Its First Reading—Other Foreign News of Interest.

LONDON, July 16.—In the house of commons this evening, Mr. Summers, liberal, asked whether the government had held any communication with counsel for the Times in the case of O'Donnell against that paper.

Mr. Smith, government leader, replied that if the question was intended to suggest that the government had received from the attorney general any communication whatever respecting matters which had come to his, the attorney general's, knowledge, as counsel, he must distinctly say that there was not the slightest foundation for any such assertion.

Attorney-General Webster followed Mr. Smith with the assertion that he had neither received any communication from the government nor given government any information either direct or indirect, in reference to the matter referred to.

Mr. Sexton asked whether the attorney-general was not consulted in preparing a motion of framing a bill in regard to the proposed commission of inquiry into the times charges.

Mr. Smith answered: "The bill is drawn and there has been no necessity to consult the attorney-general." [Conservative cheers.]

Mr. Parnell expressed dissatisfaction with Mr. Smith's explanation and for the purpose of obtaining a full debate on subject he moved an adjournment.

The speaker ruled the motion out of order.

The speaker said it would be a violation of the rules to proceed with the debate, when a motion relating to the same question was already recorded.

Mr. Parnell responded: "My motion refers to the proposition in the bill, not to the merits of the bill. I simply desire that the house, as the representative of the English-Irish nations, should discuss the measure."

The Speaker—Order.

Mr. Parnell—What against my motion to adjourn.

The Speaker—It is quite out of order.

Mr. Gladstone here asked if a vote on a motion for leave to introduce a bill for a commission of inquiry would be taken tonight.

Mr. Smith said he had hoped it would, but if it was opposed it could not be taken. It was for Mr. Parnell to say whether he accepts the proposals of the government. We would desire to debate the bill, if the proposal is received. Copies of the bill will be immediately circulated among the members. I will then fix a time for reading, but I must frankly say that I will not make any arrangement for debating a bill of this kind. [Parnellite "Ohs!"] I will certainly not occupy the time of the house in discussing the measure.

Mr. Parnell—Does the right honorable gentleman (referring to Mr. Smith) mean to say that we are not to be allowed to debate the bill, but must accept, like sheep, the judgment of the butchers? [Irish cheers.]

Mr. Smith—If there is oppposition it will probably hinder a vote being taken tonight. A vote cannot be taken after 12 o'clock.

The Parnell members here left the house to consult on the course to be pursued.

After midnight Mr. Smith formally moved that the house permit the introduction of the bill.

Mr. Parnell said that he was surprised that Mr. Smith should make such opposition. More monstrous opposition had never been made by a minister occupying such a position. [Cheers from the opposition benches.] After informing Mr. Balfour that he might suppress his ill-timed levity until he had heard the end of the story, Mr. Parnell resumed, if letters are genuine, I am not an "honorable," but a dishonorable member, and it is the duty of the leader of parliament and the nation to insist upon a thorough inquiry, instead of saying that it's for me to say whether to accept the bill or not. [Cheers.]

He wants me to accept the bill without knowing the names of the jury or judge, selected by himself. Why should I trust him? I know that his party and his attorney have made themselves accomplices to these foul lies. [Cries of "Oh! Oh!" and cheers.] How can I trust him to do me justice? I cannot tonight say whether I accept or reject. It appears to me that the government wants to put the cart before the horse, to keep the case of the forged letters in the background, but I shall give no chance to the honorable members to back out of it, and if I find, on examining the details of the bill, that they failed in securing a fair inquiry, which I demand, I shall claim my right."

Mr. Parnell was here interrupted by loud laughter from the conservatives, leading the speaker to cry loudly "Order," "Order," while Mr. Parnell was heard to shout:

"Sure, they are only a pack of cads."

Amidst excitement a memember rose for the purpose of naming the offending member, Mr. Parnell continued, saying:

"I shall claim my right to enforce judgment of the house on these details, but for the present I decline to bargain with Mr. Smith." (Cheers.)

Mr. Smith, replying, said he had given, in the terms of the motion, the fullest description of the measure, and that on the second reading Mr. Parnell will be given an equal chance of discussing the matter, also in the courts when the name of judgment would be given.

The bill was read the first time.

Mr. Parnell was interviewed in the lobby and stated that the position assumed by the government was intolerable and unheard of. They had offered him an alleged criminal tribunal of their own choosing and constituted in acc

THE MACON BUDGET.

The Southern Cadets Have a Delightful Trip.

The Covington and Macon Car Shops to be Located in Macon—Contractor Powers Trying to Get His Money.

MACON, Ga., July 16.—[Special.]—The Southern Cadets, about twenty strong, under command of Sergeant Flynn, left Macon on Saturday night at 10:50 for St. Simons island, to spend Sunday at the encampment. The Cadets reached Brunswick on Sunday morning at 6:15, and were met at the train by a brass band and were escorted to the Oglethorpe hotel, where they were given an address of welcome by Mayor Dunn, who cordially greeted them in the name of all the citizens, and said he turned over Brunswick to them to do with it as they pleased.

The Cadets partook of a splendid breakfast at the Oglethorpe and about 10 o'clock were boated over to St. Simons, where they then spent the day delightfully. The Cadets were taken in charge by the Brunswick Rifles, and the Floyd Rifles, of Macon, and part of the company ate dinner with the Brunswick Rifles and the balance with the Floyd Rifles.

In the afternoon a sermon was preached by the Baptist divine to the entire military of the encampment.

The Cadets participated in the dress parade in the afternoon, and also gave an exhibition drill which was greatly admired. The following members participated in the drill:

Sergeant Flynn, commander; White, M. G., right guide. No. 1. Corbett W. P., Craven G. W., Lyon W. J., Massenburg R. H.

No. 2. Thomas C., Polhull F., Thomas A. Cunningham W.

No. 3. Oliver F. M., White C., Ball O., Jones A.

No. 4. Glesner C., Lyon J. W., Lamar L. M., Wiley S. R., left guide.

The Cadets left St. Simons for Brunswick about 6 o'clock Sunday evening and departed from Brunswick at 8:05 on the home trip, reaching Macon at 3:30 this morning, all having experienced a most delightful visit, and are loud and warm in their praises over the hospitable treatment received.

The Cadets traveled in a special car, kindly tendered them by Assistant General Passenger Agent L. J. Ellis, and the Cadets are also under obligations to Captain Dart, who delayed the St. Simons boat for their accommodation.

Yesterday afternoon, while on St. Simons, the photograph of the soldiers at the encampment was taken, including the Cadets.

The companies at the St. Simons encampment are the Floyd Rifles, of Macon; the Elberton Rifles, the Brunswick Rifles and the Columbus Guards.

The Floyd Rifles are having a splendid time. They expect to return home on Wednesday night.

WILL BE LOCATED HERE.

The Covington and Macon Car Shops—This is the Place.

MACON, Ga., July 16.—[Special.]—It is generally understood that the car shops of the Covington and Macon road will be located at Macon, the headquarters of the road, and what will be the central point in the great system when all of its proposed branches are completed, which will be from time to time, rapidly and successively, as soon as each proposed road is built.

Of course, Macon will get the Covington and Macon shops, but she should keep her eyes open, as other places are endeavoring to obtain them. In evidence of this, read the following from the Athens Graphic:

"Why in the world don't you advocate the city taking steps to get the shops of the Macon and Covington road located here? Macon is doing all she can for them, and we must not set idly by and have them wrenched from our hands when we can save them. These shops would be one of the best things that Athens ever had, and they can be secured with a little effort. Let the city offer inducements; say give them $25,000 and donate land to them. It would be the means of bringing much money and business to the city. We ask that our progressive council take action at once. I am a new comer to Athens, and a poor man, but will donate out of my own pocket $25 to this end. We must have them. These shops would give numbers of people work, and send thousands of dollars adrift in our city every month. This idea it seems to us is a good one, and it should be investigated.

THIRTEEN MILES FROM ATHENS.

The Covington and Macon has been completed to Fannington, only thirteen miles distant from Athens. The good people of that place had a day of jollification there on Friday, and speeches were made by enterprising citizens and friends of Fannington.

RULE NISI GRANTED.

Contractor Powers, of Macon, Trying to Get His Money.

MACON, Ga., July 16.—[Special.]—Mr. John H. Powers, of Macon, the well known railway contractor, is trying to get some money due him, but so far without success.

On Saturday, in Savannah, he filed a petition through his attorney, C. N. West, in the superior court, asking for the appointment of a receiver for the Savannah, Dublin and Western Short Line railway company, which road Macon has been anticipating to be a link in the Macon and Dublin system, which latter line the projectors maintain will soon be built, Colonel H. S. Morse, of Macon, the vice-president and general manager, having just returned from New York, where he is said to have perfected all necessary arrangements for the building of the road.

On June 27 last, Mr. Powers obtained a judgment in the city court of Savannah against the Savannah, Dublin and Western for $1,893.84 principal, and nearly two years interest. The petition sets forth that the railway company is utterly insolvent and has no property whereof the judgment can be made except its railroad bed and rights of way, bridges, fences and other real estate commencing near the city of Savannah and extending westward through the counties of Chatham, Bryan, Bulloch, Emanuel, Tatnal, Montgomery, Laurens, Dodge, Pulaski, Dooly and Sumter, a distance of about 200 miles. Mr. Powers states that the company is entirely unable to pay him and other creditors. Judge Adams granted an order requiring the company to appear and show cause next Saturday why a receiver should not be appointed.

MR. SKALOWSKI LEAVES US.

He and Family Will Reside in Augusta—What is Said of Him.

MACON, Ga., July 16.—[Special.]—Mr. H. Skalowski, the well known furniture man, has shaken the dust of Macon from his feet and gone, with his family, to Augusta to live. Referring to the fact of his removal, the Augusta Chronicle says:

The latest arrivals in our midst are Mr. H. Skalowski and family, of Macon. For the last twelve years Mr. Skalowski has been in the furniture business at Macon, running one of the largest establishments in the city. His residence here will be permanent. He is now negotiating for a desirable lot on Greene street, with a view to erecting a handsome residence, and the work will begin as soon as the plans and specifications can be arranged. Mr. Skalowski will embark in the furniture business here. He and his family will be quite an acquisition to the Jewish circles of the city. His daughter, Miss Mamie, has just graduated, and is a most accomplished young lady. She has some magnificent chenille work, executed by herself, upon which she secured the highest premiums at the state fair held in Macon last year. She will exhibit the same work and several additional specimens at the Augusta exposition. Mr. C. H. Harris, formerly of Macon, is connected with the establishment of Mr. Skalowski. Mr. Harris has been living here since November last, and is related to some of our leading citizens. He is a very affable and enterprising gentleman, and has grown up, so to speak, in the furniture business. Augusta extends a warm welcome to all new enterprises and new citizens.

HAT RACK THIEF.

A Sly Rascal Gets in His Work at the Front Door.

MACON, Ga., July 16.—[Special.]—Last evening while Mr. Marion Blackshear, Miss Clifford Cotton and Mr. Charlie Blackshear were in the setting room of the family residence on Washington avenue, Miss Cotton thought she heard a supicious noise in the entry and rising she went out to investigate, and was astonished to see a black burly negro man standing near the front door.

She called to Mr. Charlie Blackshear to come and see what the negro wished. Mr. Blackshear asked in demanding tones—"what are you doing here, sir?" The negro replied, "I wished to know where Mr. Boynton lives." The desired information was given and the negro left. But not until after his departure, did Mr. Blackshear discover that two very handsome umbrellas and a fine silk hat were missing from the rack. The supposition is that the negro stole them, and in taking them from the rack make the noise that at first attracted Miss Cotton's attention. The stolen articles have not been recovered.

TO BE SEEN AT MACON.

The Moon Will be in Total Eclipse Next Week.

MACON, Ga., July 16.—[Special.]—The moon will be totally eclipsed on the 22d and 23d inst., and will be plainly seen at Macon. The times of the phases are as follows:

		d.	h.	m.
Moon enters penumbra	July	22	9	55.3	p. m.
Moon enters shadow	"	22	10	54.5	"
Total eclipse begins	"	22	11	53.4	"
Middle of eclipse	"	23	0	44.6	a. m.
Total eclipse ends	"	23	1	35.8	"
Moon leaves shadow	"	23	2	34.6	"
Moon leaves penumbra	"	23	3	33.7	"

The eclipse will be generally throughout North and South America, and in portions of Europe, Africa and the Pacific ocean. It is a repetition of the eclipse of July 12, 1870. The magnitude of the eclipse is 1825, the moon's diameter being 1.

The conditions of the eclipse are all that can be desired for observers in this longitude. Totality commences when the moon is almost on the meridian, and continues 1 h. 45 m. The time from the moon's entrance into the shadow until she leaves it is 3 h. 40 m. A good opera glass will greatly aid in the observation.

IN A DESTITUTE CONDITION.

A Poor Wife and Babe Neglected and Forsaken—A Sad Case.

MACON, Ga., July 16.—[Special.]—Mrs. W. C. Martin and her two weeks' old baby, residing on Third street, between Elm and Ash, are in a destitute condition. Mrs. Martin was abandoned a short time since by her husband, and left in a destitute condition, absolutely dependent upon the mercy and kindness of charitable people, who in pity and compassion have been feeding them.

Martin is said to be working in Atlanta, and absolutely and totally does nothing for his wife and child. Mrs. Martin wishes him arrested and brought back to Macon.

Mrs. Martin's distressed condition was brought to the attention of Chief of Police Wiley today, and he had her true circumstances investigated by a trusted officer, and they were found deplorable indeed. The chief will make arrangements to have Mrs. Martin and child taken to the hospital, where they can be well cared for.

MINOR SCOVEL PLEASED.

The Result of His Recent Visit to Macon—The Dummy Line.

MACON, Ga., July 16.—[Special.]—We made mention of the visit of Mr. Minor Scovel, of Nashville, Tenn., a few days ago to Macon on a business visit to see Mr. S. Reed Stoney in regard to the building of the dummy line in Milledgeville from the depot to the lunatic asylum, Mr. Stoney having the contract for the construction of the same.

The Nashville American, referring to the visit of Mr. Scovel, says: "Mr. Minor Scovel got back from a big money trip to Macon, Ga. The people made him believe, too, that he had lived to very small purpose till he reached Macon, Ga., and he was going about the hotel last night with G. S. Watkins, the athletic editor of the Birmingham Age, saying that Macon was the prettiest town he had struck in the south, always excepting Nashville, of course."

JUDGE GUSTIN'S COURT.

Several Important Motions to Be Heard This Week.

MACON, Ga., July 16.—[Special.]—Judge Gustin, of the superior court, heard one or two unimportant matters today, as far as the public is concerned, but he has several important motions for new trials to be argued this week. Among them are the following:

The case of Thomas G. Woolfolk, Carroll vs. the East Tennessee road, Macon Savings bank vs. Gordon et al, city of Macon vs. East Tennessee road, Southern Express company vs. Fink, Morrill vs. Southwestern road and other important hearings.

The Wolfolk hearing excites more public interest than any other case, but the day for the hearing has not been definitely fixed.

A Christening.

MACON, Ga., July 16.—[Special.]—Superintendent Harmon of the "Roff Home," was in the city today and he tells of a christening had out to the hospital yesterday. Mrs. Fennel, who has not very long been an inmate of the Home, gave birth a short while ago to a boy, and on yesterday the child was christened "Grover Cleveland," by the Rev. Dr. Kendall, pastor of the Mulberry Street Methodist church. Another boy born at the "Home" has been christened "Stonewall Jackson." Grover Cleveland and Stonewall Jackson are two very solid names, we would state.

Wishes to Move Here.

MACON, Ga., July 16.—[Special.]—Mayor Price is in receipt of a letter from H. C. Sinnett, attorney at law, 204 Ohio street, Sedalia, Mo., saying that a client of his, a man of means, wishes to move to Macon and locate here for the purpose of manufacturing medicines, and desires to know the advantages of Macon as a distributive point, etc. The party in question will give employment, if he comes, to about one hundred persons. Mayor Price will see that Macon's many advantages and fine points are fully and attractively set forth.

Tough on Somebody.

MACON, Ga., July 16.—[Special.]—A friend sends us a copy of the Jones County Headlight, from which we make this clipping:

"The following story is rather tough on somebody: A man walked into a Macon bar and called for whisky. A small glass and a decanter were set before him. He looked at the glass dubiously and said: 'Is this the largest glass you've got?' The barkeeper eyed him a moment, and then asked: 'You're from Jones, ain't you?' 'Yes, that's my home.' 'John,' said the barkeeper, calling to the porter, 'give him that pint measure over there!'"

Annie Franklin's Death.

MACON, Ga., July 16.—[Special.]—Annie Franklin, the prostitute who shot herself a few weeks ago with suicidal intent, died this afternoon from blood poison, the effects of the wound. Her condition was terrible. A great abcess formed over her body. Her face was awfully swollen. Her lover, about whom she shot herself, nursed her faithfully to the end. It is said she professed repentence some days before dying.

Attempted Suicide.

MACON, Ga., July 16.—[Special.]—Yesterday Kizzie Andrews, a colored girl, took laudanum with suicidal intent, because her sweetheart not wrote her he did any longer love her. Dr. Ethridge brought her through safely by the use of a stomach pump. Kizzie cooks for Mr. Greenberg.

The Eighth.

MACON, Ga., July 16.—[Special.]—Lieutenant Charlie Wood's household has again been blessed. This time it is a little heiress. The young Miss is said to be very pretty, and many friends have called to see the little lady. The new arrival makes the eighth—four boys and four girls. The gallant lieutenant is to be congratulated.

Brought Home.

MACON, Ga., July 16.—[Special.]—Mrs. W. H. Bowden was brought home last night on a litter on the Covington and Macon train from Jones county, owing to injuries received by being thrown from a buggy on Friday afternoon. The many friends of this estimable lady hope that her injuries will not prove very serious, and that she will rapidly recover.

The Sheppard Case.

MACON, Ga., July 16.—[Special.]—Stenographer Barnes is now hard at work transcribing the evidence in the Sheppard insurance case, which will embrace more words, it is thought, that the famous Woolfolk trial.

Reported Killed.

MACON, Ga., July 16.—[Special.]—It was reported about the city today that Mr. Joe Wolff had been killed in a railroad accident some where on the East Tennessee road. The rumor at this writing lacks confirmation.

Jailed.

MACON, Ga., July 16.—[Special.]—On yesterday, a negro named Mose Goode, was put in jail for using profane language in the presence of a lady. The warrant charged him with misdemeanor.

Avant Elected.

MACON, Ga., July 16.—[Special.]—In the election on Saturday in Godfrey district for justice of the peace, John Avant was elected, defeating Tom Wood.

Death of a Baby.

MACON, Ga., July 16.—[Special.]—Yesterday morning there died in Griffin the five months old child of Mr. R. B. Evans, and the body was interred yesterday afternoon in the Rose Hill cemetery at Macon. Only on last Tuesday Mr. Evans buried his wife in Macon, who had died in Atlanta.

Mr. Evans has two children left living in Atlanta, and one of these is critically ill. Mr. Evans's family resided in Macon, where he has many friends who sympathize deeply with him in his affliction.

Personal Points.

MACON, Ga., July 16.—[Special.]—Mr. N. M. Solomon and Mr. S. J. Holland left this afternoon at 2 p. m., on a trip to the bluegrass region, the wild west and New York. They will be gone several weeks.

Misses Lizzie Hollis and Julia Rutherford are visiting in Forsyth.

Miss Medora Brown returned to the city today.

Captain J. E. Mallory went on a business trip to Dublin this morning.

Colonel H. H. Jones left today for Savannah.

Mr. Henry T. Conner and family have gone on a short visit to Gordon.

Hon. Claud Estes and John E. Jones are in Gainesville visiting their families who are spending the summer there.

Lawyer J. T. McNeil, of Columbus, is in the city on a legal visit to Hon. C. L. Bartlett.

Mrs. J. W. Roberts, nee Miss Marwood Herty, who has been visiting Miss Minnie Wilcox, returned last evening to her home in Milledgeville.

Dr. Randolph Kenan, who has recently located in Athens to practice dentistry, and who has been visiting the family of Dr. Chas. Hall the past week, has now gone to Darien on a visit to his parents.

Mr. Phil Bonner accompanied the Cadets to St. Simons, and returned this morning.

Miss Katie Carnes has returned from a delightful visit to friends in different Alabama cities.

Captain W. W. Carnes left for Memphis last night.

Handsome Frand Stuart, of Atlanta, was in Macon again on yesterday. His Sunday trips to Macon are wonderfully frequent. What's the cause? Wait and see if the ides of November will tell.

Mr. Willis B. Sparks complimented various of his Macon friends on Saturday with a generous remembrance of watermelons from his beautiful Mikado farm. The fruit was fine and delicious—so we heard.

Mr. Hansell Hall, of Milledgeville, well known to the belles and beaux of Macon is quite sick.

Rev. W. B. Jennings will leave for the north about August 1st on a summer vacation.

Judge and Mrs. John Gresham are preparing to go to White Sulphur Springs, Va.

Messrs. A. Gibian and J. Dannenberg, two of Macon's popular merchants, have gone to New York.

Mr. Milo S. Freeman spent yesterday in the city and returned to Atlanta last night.

Mr. Harry Chichester spent yesterday in Americus. The impression is that future Sundays will be spent in Atlanta.

Mr. Paul Willingham is in Chattanooga, visiting his brother, the Rev. Mr. Willingham.

Mr. A. J. Willingham is happy—a boy. Mr. Dave Hill is ditto—a girl.

Mrs. S. G. Choppin expects to leave soon for New York to join her husband.

Mr. Ambrose Crutchfield and family have gone to Mt. Airy, and are occupying their own new cottage. Later in the season Mr. Crutchfield may go north.

Editor Folsom, of the Cedartown Standard, bloomed upon his Macon friends yesterday, who, of course, were delighted to see him.

Mrs. W. F. Shellman and family, and Mrs. Allie Shellman, of Savannah, arrived in Macon on Saturday afternoon, where they were met by Miss Chariton, and all left for Warm Springs.

Madison Advertiser: Messrs. B. J. Holt and J. L. Glover, of Macon, have opened a branch house of the "Virginia Store" at Gregory's old stand, Broughton's store. We welcome these gentlemen to our city, and wish them success.

Athens Graphic: News reached here this morning that Mr. William Burpee, formerly of this city, but now of Macon, had died in that place last night from fever. It will be remembered that Mr. Burpee married Miss Laura Gordon, of the Salvation Army, when the army was at its best. He, too, joined the army, but resigned. His mother and Captain Hill, of the police force, go down this evening, and will bring his remains here for interment.

THE DALTON REUNION.

The Echoes of the Great Social Gathering.

DALTON, Ga., July 16.—[Special.]—The recent reunion of the Dalton boys was so decided a success that the committee concluded to celebrate the event with a banquet, which took place in the diningroom of the Lewis house, Friday night, under the auspices of Colonel and Mrs. J. Q. A. Lewis, those popular caterers of ye old school, that lay the covers not only with a lavish hand, but with such cuisine and season that would appease the most fastidious epicure and make the gods green with envy, and was made especially pleasant by the supervision of Miss Dollie Lewis, our charming hostess. Those present were Chairman David Bukofzer, Senator T. R. Jones, Editor Henry Wrench, John Black, W. R. Davis, D. C. Bryant, D. K. McKamy, S. W. Farnsworth, J. M. Trotter, J. B. Gudger and F. T. Reynolds, of the committee. The guests of the occasion were Prof. Henri Schoeler, Messrs. Joe McIntyre, E. D. George and H. A. Loury. Till 11 o'clock was consumed in toasts, speech-making and pledges for the future. After that hour another table was prepared and the lady guests of the house were invited in and an elegant time was had. One of the especial features of the occasion was some imported Rhine wine presented to the party by Colonel David Bukofzer, that prince of good fellows, and the cups "were filled up to those made up of loveliness alone." Senator Jones was toastmaster, and kept the spirits up during the evening.

Altogether the affair was au fait and every one voted it the recherche event of the season. Mrs. Joe Williams, of Knoxville, Miss Estelle McAuley, Mobile, Misses Willie Swoll and Jennie Mustin, of Savannah, Misses Dollie and Ella Lewis, composed the merry party, and every one regretted when the "glow-worm showed the matin near," and the parting came.

THE SUMMER SESSION

Of the Agricultural Society of Georgia, August 14, 1888.

NEWNAN, Ga., July 16.—[Special.]—The summer meeting of the State Agricultural society will be held here. The following programme has been arranged:

Convention will be opened at 9 o'clock a. m., with prayer.

Address of welcome on the part of the city of Newnan, by Hon. W. A. Turner.

THE SIXTH CANDIDATE

For the Post of Representative From DeKalb.

ROSWELL JUNCTION, Ga., July 16.—[Special.]—The political race in DeKalb county is still exciting. Mr. T. V. McAfee, the sixth candidate for representative, is out on the independent anti-prohibition ticket. Mr. McAfee is a brother of Deputy Collector W. H. McAfee, who was at one time a senator from Lumpkin county. He proposes to carry his own skillet and will doubtless put some of the other candidates to their trumps to defeat him, as a great many people are not at all satisfied with the clause prohibiting the sale of blackberry wine in the county, and of course an attempt will be made to overthrow the whole bill.

Colonel C. M. Candler addressed a large meeting at Dunwoody today.

A barbecue and mass meeting is spoken of at Doraville on July 28th, when all the candidates are expected to meet and discuss the issue.

Death From an Accidental Shot.

LAWRENCEVILLE, Ga., July 16.—[Special.]—On Saturday last John Winn, colored, was accidentally shot by Charlie Thompson, colored, and died from the effect thereof within an hour. The jury of inquest decided it was done accidentally. The evidence disclosed that the gun was an old one and the trigger would not stand and Thompson did not think it would go off, but while he was pointing it at him in fun it did go off with the result stated. It was the deceased dying statement that he did not want Thompson hurt as he did not intend to do him any harm.

An Old Gun Did It.

LAWRENCEVILLE, Ga., July 16.—[Special.]—John Martin was shot by Thompson Saturday, in the woods near Lawrenceville, both negroes. They were in the woods hunting, and had an old gun. Both were fooling with it, and it went off accidentally and discharged contents in the breast of Martin. He has since died, but exculpated Thompson from any blame before he died, and said it was purely accidental.

DREW THE LIGHTNING.

A Queer Superstition Verified by Fact.

Raiding a Still in Worth County—Took to His Heels and Ran—General News.

ALBANY, Ga., July 16.—[Special.]—"You had better take that pipe out of your mouth, it will draw lightning," said a negro near Acree, as Nellie Brown, a colored cook, was smoking a pipe in her door. Instantly there was a blinding flash, and Nellie fell dead. The lightning struck her upon the top of the head, and then descended tearing away her left breast as if cut off with a knife. Her clothes were burned off. She was the sister of Jordan Harris, a noted colored preacher. She was buried this afternoon. The negroes believe the pipe drew the lightning.

RAIDING A STILL.

On Saturday night, United States Deputy Marshal J. W. Kemp, of Albany, and John Hines, of Leesburg, with Revenue Collector Jno. W. Forrester, raided a moonshine distillery between Summer and Tyty, and thirty-five miles from Albany in Worth county.

The still was well built up of brick, and situated upon an island in Lawler creek, and in the midst of a dense swamp. They destroyed it with 300 gallons of mash and beer made from yellow corn meal, which they emptied into the creek. They remained all night, but made no arrests. It is thought to have been worked by one man, but he failed to show up. This is the first moonshine still ever discovered in southwest Georgia. A portion of the still was brought to Albany.

A WOMAN CAUSED IT.

While Levi Jones, colored, was plowing on the Rawson place he was attacked by another tenant, Walter Brown, who walked up to him and struck him three times with a heavy club. Jones threw up his arm to ward off the blows, the third lick breaking his arm. He drew a caseknife, which he used to cut fodder, with which to defend himself. His assailant thereupon drew a pistol, when Jones took to his heels and escaped. A woman caused the trouble.

GENERAL NEWS NOTES.

W. E. Wooten was appointed city attorney by the board of aldermen this afternoon. A good appointment.

On Saturday afternoon a terrible rain raged between Albany and Camilla. At Baconton an immense ball of fire entered the telegraph office. The wires and apparatus were struck by lightning and wrecked. The report was deafening. No communication could be held with Baconton until this morning, when the wires were in order again.

Albany is to be lighted by Edison incandescent electric lights within sixty days, at a cost of only $2,200 annually for the term of five years, with the privilege of purchasing the plant at the expiration of that period for $12,000. It is in the hands of a local company.

STREETMAN IN JAIL.

The Assailant of a Little Child Caught—His Bond Fixed at $500.

DANIELVILLE, Ga., July 16—[Special.]—Francis Streetman, the young man who assaulted a little ten-year-old daughter of Mr. J. G. Allen last week, has been captured and lodged in jail here. He was arraigned before Justices Sanders and Payne for commitment trial, but he waived trial and bond was fixed at $500 and he was again lodged in jail. It is thought that he will not be able to get a bondsman, though the case is not so bad as was at first reported. The child did not receive any injuries, and instead of Streetman committing the crime, he only made the assault with the intent, for which he will be brought to account at the September term of court. He does not bear a good name though this is the first crime of which he has ever been accused.

Advice to Everybody

who has a diseased Liver is to at once take proper means to cure it. The function the Liver is designed to perform, and on the regular execution of which depends not only the general health of the body, but the powers of the Stomach, Bowels, Brain, and the whole nervous system, shows its vast and vital importance to human health.

NO HUMAN BEING

should run the risk for a single day of neglecting this important organ, but should promptly get a box of Dr. C. THE MELON TRAFFIC.

The Season for Shipment Nearing Its Close.

How the Buyers, the Small Boy and the Railroad Agents Keep the Melon Moving—The "Q" Strike a Failure.

If you don't believe that Atlanta is the greatest watermelon market on earth go down among the cars that fill the side tracks about the Central depot, and are loaded with the only truly great—the Georgia melon.

This week will be a very good time to take it in.

You will not only see hundreds of carloads of this choice fruit, but you will see the railroad running themselves into various stages of decrepitude in an endeavor to please the shipper and save the melon.

You will see the man who is waiting for a bargain in melons and whose time in his own. He gets it, loads up his melons and drives away.

You will see the negro—and several of him—waiting for the broken melon that is sure to be in every car, and when he gets it he forms a joint stock company and declares a dividend on the spot. He does this in self defense, for that melon is going to be eaten, and the waste is always very small, and when the last particle of the juicy fruit has been put out of sight the rind begins to get in its work and is sent flying in every direction.

Don't forget to dodge when you go down in the melon car country.

And then there are the agents. They are having a lively time these days, and it is fun enough for one day to see Steve Johnston, of the Queen and Crescent, and J. H. Sams, of the Louisville and Nashville, chasing one another through the yards and guaranteeing the shipper any sort of time in putting his melons in the markets of the country.

The boys will have but a few days more to rush in and are making the most of it, and they are out on the wing gathering in the last of the shipments that will seek a foreign market.

The shipments to Atlanta, as well as to points beyond, up to date for the season, show a very large increase over previous years, and the total for the season will be a very large one.

The railroads will take care of the melon crop of Georgia to the best of their ability, for, as one of the agents remarked yesterday, "it is a mighty big item in our earnings."

An Engineer on the Q Strike.

The following communication is from a member of the Brotherhood of Engineers who has investigated:

ATLANTA, July 16—Editors Constitution: Please allow me space in the columns of your valuable paper to give a condensed statement of the great struggle now in progress on the "Great American Scab Route," the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad, which is being watched with the greatest of interest by capitalists and monopolists—more especially by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. It is a very hard matter to get any correct information in regard to the proceedings, for the simple reason that the northern press has been bought up by the "Q" system. So in order to get the facts of the case, I made a trip of the system to satisfy myself and gain information for the order of B. of L. E., of which I have the honor of being a member. Well, I will simply say I played the role of scab successfully and am on my return to my home in Ohio. The road is doing about 30 per cent of the business it did previous to the strike. They have 214 engines burned and disabled; and have also issued an order that they will not pay board bills contracted by engineers and firemen and have reduced the pay of section men. The "Eli" train, the fastest on the road, has been taken off simply because she could not "get there Eli." Yet Paul Morton, whom engineers call the champion liar of America, who is without rival or peer in his particular line, says the strike is off and the Q is in a good condition and flourishing. The statement given by the press that Brothers Hogue and Murphy were imprisoned is a lie manufactured of whole cloth. In regard to twelve men leaving the strikers and going scabbing, that is the same old story. There were four went, but two of them became disgusted and returned to their first love. I wish to say right here, the men are a unit, both the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, and will stand out as long as their brothers support them. I have tried to give an unprejudiced statement of things as they are. I am yours fraternally, J. H. FOWLER, Div. 36, B. of L. E.

The "Q." Strike.

Colonel J. H. Latimer, of the great "McKenzie route," returned from his trip to Cedar Rapids, Ia., yesterday. Mr. Latimer has been in attendance on a committee meeting of the order of railway conductors. He visited Chicago during his absence, and took a trip over the Galesburg division of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy.

Mr. Latimer investigated the strike on that system, and says none would ever know from the present condition of the road that there had ever been a strike.

"I examined the train sheets of the Galesburg division," said Mr. Latimer, "and there is no doubt that the road is doing a good business and carrying lots of freight and passengers."

Mr. Latimer was asked about the report of increase of accidents on the "Q" system, and says that the officials tell him that there has been a decrease in the number of wrecks over the corresponding period of last year.

"The recent use of dynamite in an attempt to wreck trains of the road," said Mr. Latimer, "has turned public sympathy against the strikers, and they have lost the confidence of many of the members of their organization. I saw a piece of the broken flange of a wheel that had been torn from the trucks of a freight engine. If the charge of dynamite had been exploded under the passenger engine which was drawing a heavily loaded train immediately following the freight, it might have resulted in great loss of life. The general verdict at Chicago is that the strike is a failure."

The Rome and Decatur.

Five miles of track was laid on the Rome and Decatur road last week, and the terminus of the road is now but a short distance from Dublin landing on the Coosa river. Through trains from Rome to Attalla, Ala., will be put on about August 1st. Colonel Dan Callahan was in New York last week in consultation with the holders of the bonds.

A Slight Delay.

The breaking of an axle on a car loaded with iron near Whitfield station on the Atlanta and West Point road, threw the car from the track and delayed the arrival of the train due in Atlanta at 1:10 p. m. No one was injured.

The Mississippi Commission.

JACKSON, Miss., July 16.—[Special.]—Judge Fentress, Superintendent Jeffreys, Mr. Morey, general freight agent, and several other high officials of the Illinois Central Railroad company, appeared before the railroad commission today, and are endeavoring to show that the local freight schedule, promulgated by the company on the first of this month, in excess of the commission's tariff and in defiance of the same, was a justifiable act, that they could not in justice to the interests of their company, avoid. The hearing has not closed, and no indication is yet given of what the outcome of the grave issue between this powerful corporation and the authorities of the state will be.

Brief Mention.

C. S. Shattuc, traveling passenger agent of the Ohio and Mississippi, is in the city.

Peg-leg Williams is up in the Carolinas, and will bring down the Arkansas and Texas excursionists.

John A. Gee, passenger agent of the Atlanta and West Point, is out on the line on a business trip.

Clyde Bostick says the mosquitoes in Savannah are so large that they have to take their shoes off to get in the rooms.

Joe White, traveling passenger agent of the Georgia railroad, and patentee of the air-ship "Eli," was in the city yesterday.

Several carloads of Georgia grown LeConte pears have been shipped north during the past week, and the crop is reported large all over the state.

The sidewalks about the carshed were lined with colored excursionists, from Columbus, yesterday. They ate watermelons, and otherwise took in the town, returning home by the 3:50 Central train.

Captain James Maloy, of the Western and Atlantic, says the Gettysburg reunion was a grand affair in every way. Personally, he reports an excellent time, and says his only difficulty was in getting away from his friends. The reunion will be repeated on a grander scale than ever in 1889.

General Longstreet was a passenger on the train which was wrecked on the Virginia Midland last week. He was jammed in by a mass of car wreckage, but finally managed to get out through a window. The general is said to have looked back at the window and said it was a wonder to him how he got through it.

Dr. A. L. ZURKER, Melrose, Minn., says: "It produced a gratifying and remarkable regenerating effect in a case of sunstroke."

MOVING HIS FORCES.

Captain James Filling Up Along the Line of the Georgia Southern.

MACON, Ga., July 16.—[Special.]—As many of our readers well know, Captain James has the contract to build the Georgia Southern and Florida road from Macon to Valdosta, fifty-two miles of track being already laid, and the grading finished to Valdosta, and three forces at work laying track, one at Tifton, coming north, and one going south from Tifton, and the third or regular force working south from the fifty-second mile post.

Captain James is putting all the force he can on the Georgia Southern, and a few days ago his convict camp broke up that had been working on the Atlanta and Hawkinsville road, near Fort Valley, and was transferred to the Georgia Southern.

The Fort Valley Mirror, in speaking of the passage of the convicts through Fort Valley says: "It attracted curious attention. The whole caravan of mules, carts, dogs, guns, guards and stripes, rivaled a first-class circus parade. The convicts are a fat, sleek and healthy-looking set of men, and a sight of them dispels the sentimental sympathy felt by some on account of their cruel usage. The rebellious and refractory are the only ones who receive punishment, and the whipping boss makes a monthly report to the principal keeper, of the number whipped and the offense. This report is made under oath, and keeps the keeper advised of all details as to discipline in the camps."

Of All Things in the World

A tonic is what nervous people require. To impart strength into the nervous organism is to insure its tranquility, provided causes of unhealthful excitement are avoided. A medicinal tonic that—like Hostetter's Stomach Bitters—commands the unqualified sanction of the healing profession, and which institutes a general reform in a bilious, dyspeptic and debilitated condition of the system, is surely entitled to a careful trial by intelligent people, capable of forming a due estimate of a medicine, from emphatic and often recorded professional evidence in its behalf. Not only are the nerves and stomach invigorated by the Bitters, but the system is also endowed with unwonted power of resistance to influences in air, water or daily avocation subversive of health. Prominently dangerous among the first named of these is malaria, against which is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters affords a competent safeguard. Rheumatism and kidney troubles are also prevented and overcome by it.

THE CONSTITUTION,
Atlanta, Georgia.

J. J. Flynn, General Eastern Agent, Park Row, New York City.

ATLANTA, GA., JULY 17, 1888.

Colonel John N. Dunn.

The announcement of the death of Colonel John N. Dunn, which occurred early yesterday morning at his residence in West End, was in the nature of a shock to his friends and the public generally. It was not generally known that he was ill, and there were no intimations that his illness was of a serious nature.

Colonel Dunn was born in Alabama, and reared in East Tennessee, a section of country that has contributed many valuable citizens to Atlanta. He entered the confederate army early in the war, and served as lieutenant colonel of an East Tennessee regiment. He fought gallantly through the war, and, at its close, settled in Quitman, Brooks county, where he practiced law. In 1869 he moved to Atlanta, and practiced law for awhile, but the business instinct was so strong in him that he abandoned his profession and became a wholesale grocery merchant.

From the time that he entered business here, Colonel Dunn has been known as one of the most public spirited of our citizens. He was not only active, but agressive, in behalf of every movement looking toward the benefit of Atlanta, or Atlanta's interest. It may be said, indeed, that there has been no public enterprise calculated to benefit Atlanta in which he was not a prominent factor.

And his influence was always worth having, for, in addition to a thorough knowledge of business and commercial methods, he added a knowledge of the details of the law. He was conservative when conservatism was desirable, but he preferred to carry a point by storm, and his success vindicated his judgment.

At the time of his death, Colonel Dunn was the president of the Atlanta and Florida railroad, and in the completion of this important line he had his whole heart. Whatever benefit Atlanta will derive from the building of this line—and it is a very important one—she owes to the untiring energy and devotion of Colonel Dunn. The absorbing interest that he took in this new road was all for the sake of Atlanta, and it will be a monument to his skill as an organizer, and his efficiency as a business man.

We may truthfully say, therefore, that in the death of Colonel Dunn Atlanta loses not only a prominent business man, but one of the most public-spirited of her citizens—a man that we can ill-afford to spare.

Clews is trying to drum up business in Georgia. If he really wants to benefit the state, he should continue to attack her credit. Her bonds advance every time Clews shoots at them.

The weather reports from Washington remarked that yesterday would be warmer. Naturally it was cooler.

Mugwump Sickness.

The Albany, New York, Times, which is one of the staunchest democratic papers in the union, or in the universe, for that matter, is not particularly well pleased with the manner in which its contemporary, the New York Times, alludes to Mr. Randall and Governor Hill.

The whole trouble, as we understand it, lies in the fact that the Albany Times is a democratic newspaper, while the New York Times is a mugwump organ. There is no reason why our Albany contemporary should become restless. When it is remembered that it was in the office of the New York Times, and with the hearty sympathy of its present proprietor, that the conspiracy to defraud the country by making Hayes president was hatched, it cannot be said that the abuse of Mr. Randall and Governor Hill, to be found in the columns of Mr. George Jones's paper, is altogether out of place.

Mr. Randall and Governor Hill are not only democrats, they are typical democrats, and it is perfectly natural that the New York Times should abuse them. The Times is for Mr. Cleveland, but we may be sure that Mr. Cleveland has no sympathy with any person or any paper that abuses such distinguished democrats as Mr. Randall or Governor Hill. Mr. Cleveland knows, moreover, that while the New York Times is for him personally, it is not for the democratic party, and in this campaign the democratic party is bigger than any man.

According to Editor Halstead, the way the negro delegates were bought at Chicago was to furnish them with tickets of admission, which could be sold at a good price in the local market. This was a very economical plan.

The Philadelphia Press predicts a panic. There will certainly be a panic in the republican party next November.

The Cash System.

Many of the leading butchers have adopted the cash system in their business, and they report great success, as will be seen by a report in another column. It is certainly a good system to adopt, if the butchers will only stick to it. It is better for the seller and the buyer. It enables them to buy their beef for cash, and they can sell it cheaper, because the good men will not have to pay for meat consumed by dead beats.

No man, as one of these butchers remarked, can conceive to what extent swindling is carried on by the credit system. A man will run an account for meat for a month. He has every appearance of being a respectable, honest man. At the end of the month the butcher finds that he owns no property in his own name—that it belongs to his wife or some one else. If suit is brought, cost is to be added to the bad debt. So the man goes to some other butcher and lets his last victim pocket the loss. This is not only so with butchers, but with our retail grocers. If every retail provision dealer had what he loses in this city—and it is the same in all cities—it would go a long ways toward paying his expenses another year. It encourages men, too, to be dead-beats. When a man gets ahead of one dealer by swindling him out of provisions, he has lost his virtue on that line, and nine times out of ten they never reform. Trading for cash makes a man buy close. He is not troubled with debt. It makes him save up for a rainy day, and he gets in the habit of doing without many little luxuries that he would purchase without thinking about if he purchased on a credit.

Some men think it works harshly on men who work for wages—this is a mistake—just the opposite is oppressive on the wage earner. Many thousands of dollars are squeezed out of the laboring man by selling provisions on time at exorbitant prices. It is an easy matter for a man to save his wages so as to get some money ahead. He had better learn the lesson at once for his own comfort and for the comfort of his family if he does not already know it. Sickness or want of rest may overtake him. He should be prepared to lay by something to meet that emergency. By saving his wages and paying cash for what he gets he can increase his own surplus and reduce greatly the necessaries of life.

The campaign poet is beginning to send in his contributions. There is a sort of metalic melody about them that reminds us of a small boy thumping a tin pan with a pewter spoon.

Your Uncle Johncy New is carrying on a very heated campaign in Indianapolis. We gather from Uncle New's agitation that the democrats are about to carry the state.

Newnan will probably have the largest crowd on the 21st of July that ever assembled in the place. The regiments that came together there are all popular in the state. Delegations will come from Forsyth, Perry, Fort Valley, Augusta, Sandersville, Bainbridge, Dahlonga, Columbus and Atlanta, and the surrounding country will turnout almost en masse. Grand preparations are being made to entertain them in a splendid way. The people of Coweta and Newnan will be equal to the occasion, it makes no difference how many come.

Will the Boulanger-Floquet duel revive that custom in Christian countries? It is to be hoped that the answer will be an emphatic negative.

One of the completest and handsomest sketches of any town yet received is one of Charlotte, N. C. The pamphlet is elegantly printed and ably written.

The Rev. Simon Peter Richardson has an article in the Athens Banner-Watchman, in which he severely condemns the holding of hops and germans during college commencements. This is one of the many liberal ideas of the Rev. Simon Peter which shows that he is thoroughly entitled, by virtue of his narrowness, to become a trustee of the university. By all means the Rev. Simon Peter should be elected a trustee. He would by no means feel lonesome, among the other giddy boys of the board.

A Charleston grand jury recommends the establishment of the whipping post. It was tried in Georgia just after the war and it failed to pan out. It excited public opinion against it, and the authorities suppressed it. Probably now it would meet with no better success.

John G. Whittier, the well known Quaker poet, indorses Harrison. Mr. Whittier has all his life been one of the most persistent and malignant enemies of the south. Straws show the way the wind blows in politics.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

About Perpetual Motion.

Atlanta, Ga., July 16, 1888.—Editors Constitution: In your yesterday's (Sunday) issue an interview was published between a reporter for your paper and myself, with regard to an invention or mine called perpetual motion, in which injustice has been done some gentlemen who are interested in the machine, as well as myself. I feel assured the reporter meant only to be funny, and did the laugh rest upon only myself, I would let the whole matter go as published. At the same time, I dislike to father such English as the languge reported as mine.

There are several joint owners of the invention, among whom are Messrs. Leon R. Ryon, A. B. Pendleton, Orr, Lamar Collier and others, who hold options upon certain interests, all gentlemen of high standing and honor.

In justice to Mr. James M. Collier, I will say that I did not make use of such language, referring to him as "that fellow Collier." On the contrary, every word uttered was respectful, as I esteem Mr. Collier as a gentleman, who is only laboring under a very great mistake.

I make this statement of my own free will and accord, and trust it may satisfy any of the parties interested, and that they may look upon the whole matter as I do—viz, that newspaper reporters must be allowed plenty of elbow room. Custom allows the privilege.

In conclusion, I will add that my only motive for allowing my contract with Mr. Coltier to be published was to set aside the report that I had wronged him in any manner whatever. Mr. Collier emphatically declares in his contract that "he has invented a separate and new device, which, coupled with the original (mine), would perfect the machine," etc. Mr. C. was mistaken simply, and he has had from the 22d day of last March to find that out. I could not afford to wait until he could invent something else, and, as the consideration fails, so drops our contract, and as a free American citizen I am proceeding in the construction of a machine never thought of by mortal man save myself. Sapientitie verbum sat. E. H. Taliaferro.

Hewitt's Appeal.

New York, July 16.—Mayor Hewitt, today, issued an appeal to the citizens of New York on behalf of Mr. Hartt, who was foreman of a shoe factory and discharged one of the workmen for theft. The shoemaker's union demanded Hartt's removal and secured it. They secured his discharge from other factories in which he obtained employment. Hartt, it is said, expended $2,500 in fighting the union and he and his family are reduced to want. The mayor heads a subscription list with a contribution of $100.

They Knew Nothing About Gas.

Savannah, Ga., July 16.—[Special.]—Two young ladies from Darien, guests at the Marshall house, owe their lives today to an open transom and a lowered window sash. Had not their room been well ventilated last night they would have stood a fair chance of asphyxiation. The gas in their room was left half turned on. The odor was detected this morning by a chambermaid, who awoke the inmates and found them quite unwell from it. The results were not serious.

Closed Up for Good.

Chattanooga, Tenn., July 16.—[Special.]—The Morning Sun, which changed from a democratic evening daily to a republican morning paper, just one month ago today, and bought the associated press franchise, formerly owned by the Daily Commercial, closed its doors tonight and will not issue any paper tomorrow. It is thought that the paper has suspended for good. Chattanooga seems to have become a graveyard for republican newspapers.

The Augusta Brewing Company.

Augusta, Ga., July 16.—[Special.]—Active work has begun upon the buildings of the Augusta brewing company. The officers will be J. H. Park, Chicago, president; E. W. Herman, Louisville, secretary; A. J. Schweers, Cincinnati, manager. The plant will cost fifty thousand dollars.

Marriage in Griffin.

Griffin, Ga., July 16.—[Special.]—Mr. P. H. McDowell, the popular and courteous telegraph operator here, and Miss Laura Clark, were quietly married yesterday afternoon. It was a surprise all round, but good wishes have been flowing in to the happy couple all day.

No Change in Boulanger's Condition.

Paris, July 16.—General Boulanger's condition is reported tonight as unchanged. The doctors have forbidden him to speak. He wrote on a piece of paper today: "I am like the late emperor." Floquet sends twice a day to inquire, and the doctors do not speak with confidence as yet.

ABOUT THE CAPITOL.

Some Dots Caught Up in the Departments Yesterday.

Adjutant General Kell: "Not much today. You can say that Mr. W. H. Steele was commissioned as captain of the Hill City Cadets of Rome."

Colonel "Tip" Harrison: "There is mighty little news here today. Pat Owens is now a judge. He has his commission as justice of the peace for 1026th district of Fulton county. Let's see—Mr. Waring Russell, Jr., has been made a notary public and exofficio justice of the peace in the 22d district of Chatham; and the 827th district of Bartow county has a new justice of the peace in the person of Mr. J. R. Adair. I believe that's about all."

Captain Furlow: "You can say that there digests have been received in the comptroller-general's office today. Camden county returns $699,316, an increase of $696 since last year. Clinch sends up $828,185, an increase of $71,167 over last year, and Echols gives in $367,474, showing an increase of $15,373 since her last return. I tell you, these wiregrass counties are coming up. Within the last few years they are showing a bigger increase than any other portion of the state. We have received nine digests so far this year, all from small counties, and they show an aggregate net increase of $245,000 since last year. If the other counties hold up, there will be an immense increase in the returns in Georgia, and no mistake."

THE PRESBYTERIAN COLLEGE.

The Commission to Meet Tomorrow to Devise Ways and Means to Build It.

Tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock the commission of prominent Presbyterians appointed at the public convention on the 12th of June to take into consideration the building of a Presbyterian college in Atlanta will meet at the First Presbyterian church, on Marietta street.

This will be the first business meeting of the commission.

The meeting will be held for the purpose of discussing ways and means of establishing a Presbyterian college. It is probable that at this meeting a large sum of money will be subscribed and a site selected upon which to build the college.

As yet, nothing definite has been done in reference to this important matter.

The commission is composed of the following able and distinguished gentlemen: Chairman, Rev. Dr. E. H. Barnett; secretary, Judge J. S. Nisbet; Attorney-General Clifford Anderson, Hon. Milton A. Candler, Mr. J. A. Ansley, Rev. Dr. William Adams, of Augusta; Colonel Charles H. Olmstead, of Savannah; Mr. William A. Moore, Mr. S. M. Inman, Mr. John Kirkpatrick, Hon. John Peabody, of Columbus; Rev. Dr. Donald McQueen, of Macon; Rev. Dr. W. S. Jennings, of Macon; Mr. H. M. Hughes, of Rome; and Rev. Dr. G. B. Strickler.

FOR CASH.

What the Butchers Say About the New System of Business.

The butchers seem to be well satisfied with their change to the cash system of conducting their business.

It will be remembered that this system was adopted by all the butchers of the city, going into effect on July 1st. How it affects them may be ascertained from what some of them said yesterday.

One remarked that his trade was not as large, but he had no bad debts.

Another: "It works like a charm—a few kick, but I don't lose any beef."

Another: "It is just what we need. I sell as much beef and can sell it cheaper, because the people who eat my meat pay for it."

Another: "Yes, it is a success, and just what ought to have been done before."

Another: "It is the very thing."

Another: "I believe I sell more meat than I did on a credit. I do not have to hesitate now when I see a purchaser. Oh, yes, some kicking; but a sensible man knows we are right."

Another: "I have not lost a dime since we adopted the cash system. No man who has not been in the business knows what butchers lose by being beat out of accounts made; and besides that, a deadbeat is always the fussiest customer."

And so it goes. They are certainly well satisfied with the change.

LADIES' AUXILIARY MEETING.

Rooms to be Furnished Very Handsomely With New Furniture.

An enthusiastic meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary Y. M. C. A. was held in the new building yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Dr. W. M. King presiding.

The question of ways and means was discussed at length, and committees were appointed to purchase furniture, etc., for the house at once. The carpets will be placed on the floors, shades in the windows and furniture in the rooms this week. The purchasing committee will go out today and all the money will be spent with the merchants of Atlanta.

The meeting adjourned to meet again on the 30th instant, at 5 p. m. All ladies interested in furnishing this home for the young men, whether members of the society or not, are cordially invited to meet with the ladies on Monday afternoon, July 30.

TO START TODAY.

Carrier Pigeons to Be Given a Start From Atlanta.

On Saturday Mr. John Lovett, agent of the Southern Express company, received from the Excelsior Homing Pigeon club, of Baltimore, two beautiful carrier pigeons.

The pigeons were sent to Mr. Lovett with the request that he set them free at the first favorable opportunity.

Carrier pigeons sent from the northern cities have been started from Atlanta upon half a dozen occasions, but so far as known only one ever reached its destination. They have returned safely from Greenville, Spartanburg, Charlotte and points farther north, but only once from Atlanta.

If the weather is favorable this morning Mr. Lovett will set these two free. He will start them from the top of the customhouse about 7 o'clock this morning.

A BABY'S BODY

Found Near the Barracks—The Verdict of the Coroner's Jury.

The body of a baby created quite a good deal of excitement out on West Fair street yesterday morning.

At about 11 o'clock several children, while playing near the old barracks, discovered by the side of the road the dead body of a colored baby.

They communicated the news to older persons, who at once notified Coroner Haynes. A jury was empanelled, and the verdict returned was that there was criminal practice in its birth, and that criminal carelessness was shown in the disposition of its body.

There was no clue to the heartless mother. The detectives have the case under consideration, but the guilty people have covered their tracks well.

Rain and Thunder.

Acworth, Ga., July 16.—[Special.]—Acworth was visited yesterday with a terrible rain and thunder storm. The streets ran as rivers. The whole earth was covered with water. For a while it looked very much as if the hill upon which the town is situated would be swept away. Mr. Sam Baggett, a worthly old gentleman, had both his mules and cow killed by a flash of lightning. Both were good animals of their kind, and all the old man had. We hope his friends will supply him with others.

Detained at Quarantine.

Washington, July 16.—The marine hospital bureau is informed of the arrival at Ship Island, quarantine station, Miss., of the Norwegian bark Magnola, from Rio Janero, with a clean bill of health, notwithstanding which fact, the captain and four of her crew died of yellow fever after leaving Rio. The vessel will be detained at quarantine.

An Anti-Duelling Bill.

Paris, July 16.—Bishop Freppel introduced a bill into the chamber of deputies today abolishing duelling and demanded urgency for the measure. In the course of his remarks in introducing the bill Bishop Freppel referred particularly to the recent encounter between Floquet and Boulanger. The demand for urgency was rejected by the chamber.

Electric Works Burned.

New Orleans, July 16.—The Brush-Westinghouse electric plant, on Dryads street, burned this morning. Loss $100,000. The city hall, parish prison, police stations, and levee were furnished with light from this point.

COLONEL DUNN IS DEAD

One of Atlanta's Prominent Citizens Passes Away.

A Short Sketch of an Useful Life—Prominent in Railroad and Business Circles—The Funeral Tomorrow.

Colonel John N. Dunn is dead.

The news of his death will be received with sorrow, not only by those who knew him, but by many others who admired him for his sterling integrity and for the progressive spirit which he displayed in all public enterprises.

He was one of Atlanta's best citizens.

COLONEL DUNN'S ILLNESS

has been of short duration—so short, in fact, that the news of his death was a great shock to many of his most intimate friends who did not know that he was ill.

About a week ago Colonel Dunn returned to Atlanta from Cumberland Island, where he had gone with his son for the sake of his son's health. Colonel Dunn was supposed to be about in his usual health, but a complication of internal troubles developed an abscess of the rectum. On Sunday night the attending physicians decided that an operation was necessary. This was performed, but the patient's physical condition was such that he did not recover from the shock, but died at 7 o'clock yesterday morning.

AN USEFUL LIFE.

John N. Dunn was born in Benton county, Ala., January 2, 1835, but at the early age of seven moved to Bradley county, East Tennessee, where he spent his early life. He was educated at Hiwassee college; studied law after leaving college, and practiced for a short while at Cleveland, Tenn.

When the south seceded he entered the confederate army and fought bravely. He was lieutenant colonel of one of the regiments from eastern Tennessee.

He moved to Georgia just after the war, and for several years made Quitman, Ga., his home, practicing law there. He moved to Atlanta in 1870, and opened a law office, but was forced to quit practicing on account of bad health.

He commenced business in 1871 in the firm of Dunn, Alexander & Co., and from that time until this has made a great success of his business. He organized the Atlanta and Hawkinsville railroad and was elected president, which position he held at the time of his death.

He was prominent and active before the state constitutional convention and the legislature in favor of the establishment of the state railroad commission, and used his influence in the last legislature to prevent the changes in the law creating that commission.

As a business man, Colonel Dunn was among the best; as a friend to the poor, he was among the most liberal; and everything he did and said proclaimed him a model gentleman.

A FRIEND'S TRIBUTE.

"John Dunn never knew fear," said one of his warmest friends, yesterday. "He was bold, courageous and fearless in all his acts. You always knew where to find him, for he was open, frank, candid and straightforward—a true man in every way. He had the happy faculty of attaching his friends closely to him, for they knew they could always depend on him. I know no citizen who would be more widely missed than Colonel Dunn."

THE BEREAVED FAMILY.

In 1862, Colonel Dunn married the daughter of Dr. Joseph M. Alexander, of Athens, Tennessee. About a year ago Mrs. Dunn died and near the same time one of their daughters was taken to her heavenly home.

Colonel Dunn leaves a family of five children, three daughters and two sons. The eldest daughter is the wife of Mr. J. K. Brunner, secretary of the Atlanta and Florida railroad. The other children are minors. The sympathy of hosts of friends goes out to them in this hour of their affliction.

THE LAST SAD RITES.

The funeral exercises will take place at the residence in West End tomorrow at 3:30 o'clock.

The following gentlemen will act as pallbearers: Messers. E. W. Marsh, W. P. Inman, James R. Wylie, T. L. Langston, Aaron Haas, H. C. Harris, L. F. Blalock, R. J. Lowry, E. P. Howell and R. A. Johnson.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

Special Meeting to Take Action in Regard to the Death of Colonel John N. Dunn.

There was a called meeting of the chamber of commerce held at 4:30 p. m. yesterday for the purpose of taking suitable action in regard to the death of the late Colonel John N. Dunn.

President Oglesby explained the object of the meeting.

Dr. R. D. Spalding offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That in the death of Colonel John N. Dunn the Atlanta chamber of commerce loses one of its most esteemed members.

"I move," added Dr. Spalding, "the appointment of a committee of five to prepare suitable memorial, expressing our loss."

The following committee was appointed: Dr. R. D. Spalding, Mr. W. A. Griffin, Cap. R. J. Lowry, Mr. G. T. Dodd and Mr. Paul Romare.

After a retired consultation, the committee reported asking until tomorrow to prepare suitable resolutions, and on motion of Captain Lowry, the committee was authorized to furnish copy for record on the minutes of the chamber of commerce and furnish copies for publication to the daily press of the city.

The following resolution was offered by Captain T. L. Langston and was also unanimously adopted:

"That in view of Colonel John N. Dunn's worth as a citizen and business man, and the high esteem in which he was held, the wholesale business houses of our city be requested, in respect to his memory, to close their doors during the funeral service; and that members of the chamber of commerce be requested to attend the funeral."

After which the meeting adjourned.

Death of Dr. Link.

Dr. J. A. Link, one of the prominent dentists in Atlanta, and well known throughout the entire city, died at half past 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, at his home on Angier avenue. He had been confined to his bed for about a month.

He was born near Staunton, Va., and shortly after the war moved to Atlanta. He afterwards resided in Tennessee and in Decatur, but finally settled down in Atlanta, where he has remained for several years. He was a consistent member of the Central Presbyterian church, an honest, upright man in all his dealings, and one in whom could be placed unbounded confidence. He leaves a wife and six children to mourn his loss. The time and place of the funeral service will be announced in tomorrow morning's Constitution.

Atlantians who are Ill.

Captain H. H. Colquitt, has been sick two weeks with malarial fever. He is improving.

Mr. Eugene Hardeman, has been ill four weeks with typhoid fever. He is getting better.

Mr. Hugh Gordon's children are both sick with fever.

Mr. and Mrs. Hurbert Culberson and their infant are sick with fever, at West End.

Mrs. John M. Nelson, who has been ill for weeks, is better.

AT THE HOTELS.

S. E. Adams, of Macon, Ga., is at the Markham house.

R. N. Cole, of Newnan, Ga., is registered at the Markham house.

Judge T. J. Simmons and Major A. O. Bacon are at the Kimball house.

S. F. Dasher, of Fort Valley, Ga., registered at the Markham house yesterday.

R. F. Sams, of Americus, Ga., is in the city, and registered at the Kimball house.

T. W. Glover and W. B. Bradly, of Marietta, Ga., are stopping at the Markham house.

Theo. M. Foley and F. H. Springer, leading merchants of Columbus, Ga., are at the Kimball.

J. M. Briggs and W. P. Roberts, of Valdosta, Ga., were in the city yesterday, and registered at the Kimball house.

OF GENERAL INTEREST.

Dr. Bellamy, librarian of the asylum library, at Milledgeville, is in the city, and states that the library, through the liberality of The Constitution, other papers in the state and the generosity of people all over the country, both north and south, is not only a success, but proves an inestimable boon to hundreds who are separated from home and friends and subjected to necessary restraint. The library now contains upward of 3,000 volumes, and is being continually increased by voluntary contributions of new and second-hand books from all sections of the country.

What He Has Paid.

Hon. N. L. Hutchins, judge of the Northwestern circuit, was in the city yesterday. He called in to pay his subscription to The Constitution, and said, as he handed over ten dollars: "This makes two hundred and ten dollars I've paid as subscription to The Constitution, and it is not the last I expect to pay it."

Another Student Sick.

Mr. Lucian L. Knight, who graduated a few days ago with high honors from the State university, was taken sick with fever Saturday morning at his home, 52 West Harris street, and is at present dangerously ill. His sickness is attributed to hard work on his finals and speeches during the hot weather.

Organize the Alliances.

Mr. F. H. Gay passed through the city on his way to Gwinnett and adjoining counties for the purpose of looking after alliance matters. He reports the farmers as rapidly organizing in the state, and says he will return and organize alliances in Fulton county between the 1st and 8th of August next. In a conversation with a Constitution man, Mr. Gay said that by organizing five sub-alliances a county can then organize a county alliance, which entitles it to representatives in the state alliance. The state alliance meets again the latter part of August, and will consider business of much importance to the farmers.

Working Their Way.

"Do you know," said a prominent county official, yesterday, "there is nothing I admire in a man more than the willingness to work hard in order to secure an education. I have a case in point. There are in Atlanta now, two young men, O. G. Jones and C. R. Harmon, who are endeavoring to work their way through Tusculum college, Tennessee, with a view to becoming Presbyterian ministers. During their vacation they are hard at work introducing through the south a book called 'King of Glory.' I know they are what they represent themselves to be, for they come highly recommended."

This practice of working in the summer in order to pay the winter's college bills is quite prevalent among the poorer students of the northern, especially the New England, colleges.

Without a Habitation.

"I'm fat—hope you're fat."

This euridite expression fell from the lips of Judge Patrick Henry Owens, the newly elected justice of the peace.

Judge Owens—he's plain 'Pat' no longer—was kept busy yesterday receiving the congratulations of friends, and for each he had some words of greeting like unto those at the head of this chapter.

"I suppose I'll take the oath of office tomorrow," said the judge. "I don't know yet where I will have my office. I've been looking at a number of locations, but haven't decided which I like best. To tell you the truth, I believe I'm growing fastidious."

The Trinity Home Mission.

The new chapel of the Trinity Church Home mission, which has just about reached completion, was dedicated under most favorable auspices. The new superintendent, Mr. F. M. Richardson, made a very interesting and instructive talk Five years ago this mission was founded by Miss Laura Haygood, and during its existence has accomplished much good. The chapel will be completed in every respect in a very short while.

It's Cold There.

Judge Calhoun came down from Mount Airy yesterday to get warm

"Cool up there? Well, I should think it was," he said. "I went up there in this light coat, and I tell you it felt mighty uncomfortable yesterday. Why, we thought we would have to start fires through the house. I came down to Atlanta to get comfortably warm."

CITY ITEMS.

Two divorce suits were filed with the clerk of the superior court yesterday. Charles L. Powell seeks a separation from Almedia Jenkins Marshall Powell, and Samuel McCoy asks that he be freed from Jane McCoy. In each case the charge is that the wife has been unfaithful to her marriage vows.

A charter has been granted to the West Atlanta Land company. The gentlemen at the head of the West Atlanta Street Railway company, are meeting with much encouragement and are confident of success.

At the request of Mr. James Lynch, a temporary restraining order was granted by Judge Richard H. Clark yesterday to prevent the city moving Mr. Lynch's house on the Foster street extension. The bill will be heard July 30. Mr. Lynch owns property at Gilmer and Ivy streets in the line of the proposed extension of Foster street. The property was once assessed at $20,000, but the last assessment placed it at $5,800. Mr. Lynch thinks this too little, and, through Messrs. N. J. and T. A. Hammond, proposes to fight the extension through his property.

Harry, the ten-year-old son of Mr. W. D. Bussey, an engineer on the Western and Atlantic railroad, has disappeared from his home, 246 Luckie street. He is supposed to have run away, and his parents are very anxious about him. He has gray eyes and light hair, and when last seen was wearing navy blue pants, blue jacket, with horse shoe print, and was barefooted.

Mr. G. K. Woodward, who was brought back to Atlanta from Chattanooga, a day or two ago, and lodged in Fulton county jail, was released yesterday morning at 10 o'clock. His attorney got Mr. John J. Falvey to sign the necessary bond, and Mr. Woodward was at once set at liberty. H said, in regard to the matter about which he was arrested, that he had not intended to cause Mr. Thomas any trouble, and that the thought of skipping his bond had not entered his mind.

Chief Connolly "has his little list" containing the names of those saloons which kept open on Saturday last. He also has a list of witnesses. No cases have as yet been made, but there is no telling how soon there may be.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. John J. Woodside is visiting Newnan, with the Governor's Horse Guard.

Mr. John Hamilton has gone on a trip through the North Carolina mountains.

Mr. Hugh Abercrombie has returned from a week's visit to Madison and Social Circle.

Messrs. Tom Jackson and Ed C. Julian leave this city this morning for an extended trip north.

Colonel H. C. Hamilton, the genial clerk of the United States district court, will spend the week in Dalton.

Fred E. Harden, of Eustis, Fla., one of The Constitution's old carrier boys is visiting friends in this city.

W. Woods White, accompanied by Messrs. Nichols and Blakely, of Griffin, Ga., has gone to Milwaukee to attend a meeting of the directors of the Northwestern Mutual Life insurance company

Messrs. C. A. Smith and C. F. Lawshe, two of Atlanta's most enterprising young men and members of the S. O. G., have just returned from a visit to Cincinnati, to the gratification of their many friends in the city.

Mrs. Louis H. Clarke, who has been spending several weeks in Jefferson, has returned to her old home in this city, where she is always welcomed by a host of friends.

Messrs. Broyles and Johnson have dissevered copartnership, by mutual consent. Colonel Broyles will take his son Nash Broyles, an exceedingly bright young man, who has graduated at the university, as a partner. Colonel Broyles is one of the old reliable attorneys of the state and is well known in all our courts. Mr. Malcom Johnston will practice alone for the present. He has a fine record at the Atlanta bar, and is a hard student and a faithful, energetic attorney. We commend these gentlemen all as safe and competent lawyers, who will not betray a trust or bootlick to get business.

Two bands at Chautauqua tonight. The best programme of the season. Do not fail to go out. The Rogers band will play first part of concert, Mexican band the second part.

WITH THE POLICE.

The Happenings of a Day and Night.

The Dark Side Depicted—A Man Shot and Another Knifed—Juvenile Thieves—Midnight Bookings.

Business was lively last night at police headquarters, and some sensational cases were booked. An unusually large number of arrests were made.

Cut in Five Places.

Two negroes—one namnd Ira Thomas and the other named Green—were engaged in conversation near the corner of Wheat and Jackson streets, about 11 o'clock last night. What they were talking about nobody knew or cared. Finally the talk became boisterous, and passers-by stopped to see what the matter was. Lurid oaths filled the air.

"I'll cut your heart out," cried one of the men, as he made a lunge at the other.

A fight ensued.

One combatant fled and the other fell to the ground, stabbed in five places. He was taken to Dr. Martin's office and his wounds were dressed. He now lies in a precarious condition.

The stabber has not yet been captured.

Was It an Accident?

About 10 o'clock last night a pistol shot at the corner of Ivy and Decatur streets alarmed the neighborhood. Several negroes scampered off as Officers Couch and Wright hurried to the scene. Bloom Mathews, a colored man, was found lying on the pavement, and blood was spurting from a wound in his right side. The wounded man told the officers that he had been shot by a man named John Davis. Mathews was carried to Dr. Westmoreland's office. The officers succeeded in arresting Davis, and they took him to the stationhouse, where he is now. He admits that he shot Mathews but insists that it was an accident. He professes to be a good friend of the wounded man. A man named Florister owned the pistol and lent it to Davis. Davis asserts that he was showing it to Mathews when in some inexplicable way it went off. At Dr. Westmoreland's office, the negro was found under the treatment of Dr. A. S. Johnson, who stated that the ball entered just below the brim of the pelvis on the right side, and ranged a little upward, producing a dangerous wound. The negro was placed in a hack and carried to his home on South Butler street.

The case will be investigated today.

In Cold Storage.

Yesterday morning Joe Riggins was in the recorder's court to answer to the charge of "drunk and disorderly." He had not sobered, and was very insolent. He behaved so badly that he was sent down stairs and put in the cooler. He will have another hearing this morning.

The Bone Boys.

Early yesterday morning Lem and Julius Bone, two white boys, whose faces are familiar in police quarters, were arrested by Officers Cason, Reeves and Bedford. The boys were charged with burglary. The Schaessler Manufacturing company, corner of Peachtree and Poplar streets; Duncan & Camp, Whitehall street, and John Cawthorn, Marietta street, were the victims. The boys confessed that they had stolen cigars from these places, and had disposed of their loot to Sing Lee, a Chinaman who runs a laundry. They stated that the Chinaman had bought the cigars at very cheap prices, knowing them to have been stolen. On this information the officers arrested Lee and another Chinaman and took them to the stationhouse. They are still confined there. A charge of receiving stolen goods has been booked against the Chinamen.

Fined Five Dollars.

Savannah Davis, colored, who was a witness in the recorder's court yesterday morning, called another witness a liar, and she was promptly fined $5 for contempt of court.

A Turbulent Prisoner.

Yesterday morning Patrolman Henry Abbott arrested in Alabama street, a negro drayman, named W. M. Stokes, who was drunk and disorderly. The negro became violent and resisted violently. The officer was forced to draw his club and, being pressed, struck the negro. This incensed the other negroes in the street, and in a few minutes a big crowd collected. It looked like a riot for some moments. The opportune arrival of Chief Connolly and several officers quelled the disturbance. Stokes was taken to the police headquarters, but none of the others were arrested.

A Lively Initiation.

The initiation ceremonies at the meeting of the Red Men last night caused a stampede to the corner of Broad and Alabama streets. Two or three pistol shots brought an excited crowd to the corner, and Chief Connolly telephoned to police headquarters and two or three policemen made good time in getting to the scene. A murder or suicide was anticipated, but the pistol shots were explained and the crowd adjourned.

Two Suspects.

Officers Manly and McCullough arrested two negroes last night in a box car. The negroes gave their names as Ingram and Arnold. It is supposed they are two escaped convicts. They were locked up.

Carrying Concealed Weapons.

Officers Osburn and Wright arrested yesterday morning a man from Cartersville named J. R. Knight, who was drunk. When taken to the police headquarters a pistol was found in his pocket. A state case was marked against him.

Juvenile Burglars.

"Atlanta is cursed with a gang of boy criminals," said a policeman last night. The city detectives have unearthed a nest of juvenile burglars. There are about a dozen white and negro boys in the gang, and they make bold depredations. The names of the young criminals are known, and the police are determined to break up the gang.

Midnight Bookings.

The following cases were booked up to midnight:

Bob Burnett, disorderly conduct and throwing rocks.
Tom Smith, obstructing the sidewalk.
Burt Belkham, disorderly conduct and quarreling.
Charles McDonald, failing to abate a nuisance.
Wade Nickless, disorderly conduct and using profane language.
Jerry Hall, drunk and disorderly conduct.
W. H. Holbrook, hitching a horse to a shade tree.
John Parker, disorderly conduct and using profane language.
Robert Horton, the same.
Tom Gilbert, drunk and disorderly.
John Curry, drunk in the street.
Jeff Carr, drunk in the street.
Mary Wofford, disorderly conduct.
Sidney Kennedy, larceny.
Arthur Jenkins, on warrant.
Oscar Jenkins, larceny.

Hon. Carlton Hillyer, will lecture at Chautauqua tonight, do not fail to hear him.

THE BEST YET.

Programme at Chautauqua Today.

Humorous Lecture by Mr. Carlton Hillyer—Two Full Bands in Concert—The Gymnasium—Other News.

The best programme of the Chautauqua will be presented today.

Mr. Carlton Hillyer, of Augusta, will deliver his famous humorous and philosophical lecture "Errors, Oversights and Mishaps." This lecture met with such a reception in Augusta as was never accorded any other, and Mr. Hillyer repeats it at Chautauqua at the special request of the directors.

The musical programme is exquisite. The new Rogers band, which has just arrived, will play the first part of the programme beginning promptly at 6:30, and playing until 7:30. Mr. Hillyer will then lecture, occupying not more than one hour. The Mexicans will then take up the musical part of the programme and conclude it in a brilliant and rapid concert of one hour.

The Rogers band is worthy in every way to play in concert with the Mexicans. Among the pieces for tonight is the famous "Hunting Scene" as played by this band alone. The piece is descriptive of a hunt, and opens with the morning breaking calm and beautiful. The huntsmen take their way to the chase, jump into the saddle and sound a merry blast—the echo among the distant hills—the buglers join in a duet—all the hunters join in singing the hunter's song—the road is alive with horsemen—they sing again—they start—whipping the dogs—on the scent—the mellow chorus of the hounds—talla ho—full cry—the following and shouts of the hunters—in at the death—return of the hunters singing their songs—arrival home. This "Hunting Scene" has been played by this band for ten years, and is a remarkably melodious and realistic piece of work.

Now remember the programme for tonight.

Mr. Hillyer, who lectures at 7:30 on "Errors, Oversights and Mishaps," is one of the most brilliant thinkers and subtle humorists that Georgia has ever produced. The musical programme will be made up of two full bands, making one hundred musicians—the Rogers band which took the five thousand dollar prize in the national musical contest, at Chicago, leading the first part of the programme, and the Mexicans closing the programme. Remember the hours. The Rogers concert from 6:30 to 7:30, the lecture from 7:30 to 8:30, and the Mexican concert from 8:30 to 9:30.

Trains will run as usual. You can get out this morning and spend the day at Chautauqua at 8 o'clock, or at 9:25. You can get out this afternoon at 1:25, or at 5 o'clock, and hear the double concert and one of the best lectures of the Chautauqua course.

The late rains have made Chautauqua delightful. The buildings are completed and improved, and you will be delighted with your visit today. Do not miss today's programme.

The Summer College at Chautauqua.

Dr. W. R. Harper telegraphs that he will reach Chautauqua at one o'clock on Wednesday, and the formal opening of the Chautauqua summer college will take place at three o'clock. All the professors will be present, and the programme for the college will be announced.

Tents and cottages may now be rented at Chautauqua by applying at the Chautauqua office on the grounds. The Chautauqua company will give ground rent free for tents for the present season. Parties can purchase tents for from twelve to thirty dollars, bring them to Chautauqua, and set them up without rent. Board can be had at the restaurant for from six to seven dollars a week, or tenters can bring their own cook, and keep house, and live as they would at home. Several parties of tenters will come in this week. The workmens' shacks have been torn away, and beautiful tenting grounds will be afforded.

Classes in Fine Art.

The classes in fine art will be in the care of Miss Lydia P. Hess, who has been for some time one of the teachers in the Chicago Art institute, and who has been sent to the assembly fully recommended by Mr. W. M. R. French, director of that school. She is enthusiastic in her work and possesses the faculty of making her classes interesting and profitable to her pupils.

She will give instructions in pencil, charcoal, water colors and oils after the methods used in the leading art schools of Europe and America.

Objects, plaster casts and life will be used as models. There will also be a class for sketching out of doors from nature.

This department will afford opportunities to pupils not only to make sketches and studies which always will be prized as souvenirs of a visit to the Piedmont Chatauqua, but to lay the foundations for thorough art study. Miss Hess has had long experience in teaching children, and would be glad to have any of the little folks join her classes. Work will begin Thursday morning at nine o'clock.

At all times Miss Hess will be glad to welcome visitors to her studio and will be pleased to talk to anyone who would like to make further inquiries as to class work.

The Peabody Institute.

At the Peabody institute yesterday the session opened with a discourse from Mr. Parker upon ready methods of solving algebraical problems, the making up of one's own logarithms, and a new way of teaching geometry, consisting in leaving out the harder and less cardinal problems and having the others learned from explanations without reading books.

Mr. Zetler followed with a plan of teaching handwriting by insisting on bare essentials and uniformity.

Mr. W. H. Woodall then finished his set of discourses on reading, laying stress upon distinctness and on an emotion begotten of moral and not merely of mental culture. He also gave some hints upon the teaching of grammar.

Dr. H. H. Smith then gave the solution of the every-day problem: "How much later each night does a star set?" He showed a quick way of multiplying double figures, and displayed the practical value of mental arithmetic, in which he said that girls shone even more than boys.

Mr. Graham proved deductively the rules for multiplying and dividing decimals, and showed how children should be taught to analyze simple and double proportion.

And the morning closed with a speech from Mr. Paine advocating that the teachers be made a licensed profession, both in order to protect the people against incompetence and the teachers against unjust competition.

In the afternoon Mr. Paine gave a special discourse upon pychology as it affected the teacher. Dealing chiefly with motive, he classified it into the less to be used propulsive kind and the more to be used attractive kind, which latter he showed to be either "a desire to please" arising from affection to the teacher, "borrowed interest" in some book or pursuit that the teacher, if a friend, had glowingly praised, and lastly "intrinsic charm," such as can be imparted by early calling attention to some interesting coincidence in the grammar, allusion in the translation, or practical use in the mathematics.

At the request of a majority of the audience Major Slaton, who was to have spoken after supper on the theme "Whom and What Should the State Teach," consented, because of the crowding of events that evening, to speak in the afternoon. He deprecated the old notion of working up only precocious pupils, and appealed to his hearers to bear him out when he said that the men who built up the country and were its lawyers, judges and governors had usually been dull though plodding boys at school. He gave a most singular instance of a dunce of dunces whom he had taught becoming the most brilliant lawyer in Savannah. The state, then, should educate all who were capable of studying, both boys and girls, that they might be able to carve their own fortunes better and be more helpful in guiding the state itself. But conversely the state ought to prohibit from voting all who could not take an intelligent interest in its welfare through being unable to write, to read the news or to read the Bible.

The city of Atlanta had neither admitted or excluded the Bible from their schools; and therefore a colored teacher who was opening with prayer and teaching the Lord's prayer to her children could not be forbidden by the city. But against any of these practices, the parent o

He deprecated the old notion of working up only precocious pupils, and appealed to his hearers to bear him out when he said that the men who built up the country and were its lawyers, judges and governors had usually been dull though plodding boys at school. He gave a most singular instance of a dunce of dunces whom he had taught becoming the most brilliant lawyer in Savannah. The state, then, should educate all who were capable of studying, both boys and girls, that they might be able to carve their own fortunes better and be more helpful in guiding the state itself. But conversely the state ought to prohibit from voting all who could not take an intelligent interest in its welfare through being unable to write, to read the news or to read the Bible.

The city of Atlanta had neither admitted or excluded the Bible from their schools; and therefore a colored teacher who was opening with prayer and teaching the Lord's prayer to her children could not be forbidden by the city. But against any of these practices, the parent of a Jewish or Roman Catholic child had a right to protest, since they subscribed to support the school. On the other hand, since public money was found to be used for teaching something that would result in public good, honesty, integrity, and the other principles of morality were bound to be taught.

Again, the children must be taught to think and turn thoroughly to account from the earliest age, so that the kindergarten ought to be established here as soon as possible, while highly skilful teachers ought to be employed to explain primary work. First impressions were the most lasting, as had often been proved by Roman Catholics, the effect of whose teaching upon children of very tender age had frequently shown itself long years after they had been brought under opposite influences. A gentleman who recently objected to paying liberal salaries to such primary teachers was reminded by the speaker of how he was about to bring a skillful trainer all the way from Nashville at fifty dollars a month to break in his blooded colt.

Finally the major declared that the really educated man was not the one who had read through many books at school or college, but who had made the best use of the capital he possessed.

The Chautauqua Gymnasium.

The department of physical education will open Wednesday, July 18, at rooms in the hall of science, where the classes will meet until the completion of the gymnasium.

Applications for admission may be made between the hours of 9 and 10 a. m., or 4 and 5 p. m. of that day, or by letter to the director, in which case please state whether admission is required to the normal class or to those for exercise only, and whether for the season of six weeks or for a shorter term.

The patronage of ladies is most earnestly solicited, and a talk on theory and the benefit of exercise will be given at 10:30 Wednesday morning to ladies who wish to understand it more fully before joining the classes. It is hoped that a full attendance will be present.

The gymnasium, when properly conducted, is one of the most useful as well as enjoyable halls of education. There the mind, overtaxed with mental work and mental worriment, finds relief in diversion that calls the physical powers into action, and by this exercise draws the blood from the brain, starts a healthy circulation, refreshes the nerves, and puts the brain in condition for its duties again. Under instruction of a person who understands human nature and the human body, a complete renovating of the muscular system can be conducted, stooping figures straightened, and indigestion, weak lungs and weak backs corrected and all through a medium that seems really but diversion. A great part of the success in results from a well conducted gymnasium is that the exercise entain while they benefit. The work to be brought out in this department was outlined in THE CONSTITUTION of July 7th; hence is familiar to the public. This new branch of education seems to interest all, as indeed it should, children and youth from its pleasing features, and those of more advanced years from its promotion of health and longevity. The old school idea, not yet absolutely obsolete among our mental educations, that a person either runs to muscle or to brain is fast dying out and the fact becoming established that the care of the body is as important as the care of the intellect, and requires quite as able directors to superintend its development; hence the necessity of the normal school. The gymnasium, injudiciously conducted, or conducted by a person possessed of muscular ability alone, in nine cases out of every ten, is productive of more harm than benefit. Only a person of powerful physique can endure the exercises; and it is not for these that the gymnasium is needed; rather for persons of less physical ability. School children, especially girls, are weak, hollow-chested, hollow-eyed, peevish and round shouldered, all because they are overworked, when it is really because they are under-exercised. Give them plenty of healthful, enjoyable, outdoor exercise, keep the physical growth in pace with the mental, and their minds could comprehend and retain a great deal more than they can if the body is frail. This statement has been emphasized by the most eminent physicians of our country as well as by the lives of great men.

A healthy body is sure to produce a healthy mind, and no boy who spends an hour at gymnastic or athletic exercise, whose mind is aglow with the enjoyment derived from it, seeks rowdyish companions or visits beer saloons.

Notes.

The sermon by Dr. Morgan Calloway at Chautauqua Sunday night was a masterpiece of piety and eloquence. It has been requested for publication, and those who read it will be wiser and better for having done so.

Last night at Chautauqua Mr. James A. Green, of Cincinnati, gave the first of a series of lectures in which he introduced stereopticon views. The whole of the vast tabernacle was darkened, and the pictures were presented one by one on the lighted canvass. The subject of the lecture was "Scenes in Washington," into which he weaved historic events. The plan worked admirably, the pictures were splendid, and the lecture was a highly enjoyable one. A splendid concert was given by the Mexican band, the first part being played before the lecture and the second part after the lecture.

We would be pleased to know of a man or woman who has never had headache or been subject to constipation. As these seem to be universal troubles a little advice may be in order. Why should persons cram their stomachs with nauseating purgative pills etc. which sicken and debilitate when such a pleasant and sterling remedy as Prickly Ash Bitters will act mildly and effectively on the liver, kidney, stomach and bowels, and at the same time tone up and strengthen the whole system, causing headache, constipation and all such distressing evils to quickly disappear.

A STRAW MAN.

Knocked Into a Cocked Hat by Treasurer Bob Hardeman.

Who Tears the Filling Out of Some Foolish Statements About the New Bonds Made by an Anonymous Banker.

The recent sale of Georgia bonds is being much talked about.

A special in Sunday's CONSTITUTION from Savannah contained these words:

A Savannah banker criticising the sale says: "By making the bonds bear interest from July 1, when they are not turned over to the purchasers until October 1, the purchasers are simply given a bonus of $21,375 for buying them. It is really not a perfectly straight business transaction. Then again the state will likely accept maturing bonds of Georgia in payment and pay principal and interest to maturity. Thus if the bonds are bought at par and interest accrued they will cost the Mutual 101½ per cent profit on them in the delivery, which is equal to $3,500, or the bonds will cost 1½ plus 1½ per cent, 1½ per cent less than the accepted bid, to-wit: 101¼ per cent, less 2¾ per cent=101½. I predict that the bonds of 1915 will sell at 110, in less than three months."

Referring to this, Treasurer Robert Hardeman said yesterday: "Somebody has just set up a man of straw for the fun of knocking it down. Nothing could be wider of the mark than such stuff as that.

"In the first place, the new bonds do not bear interest from July 1st. They bear interest from October 1st. The purchasers do not get one cent between July 1st and October 1st. Now, what becomes of the alleged bonus of $21,375, which the purchasers get? They don't get it, that's all.

"In the second place, the state will not 'accept maturing bonds of Georgia in payment and pay principal and interest to maturity on October 1st'—not by a jug full. Under the law this could not be done. But the state can and will accept bonds in payment on that date with accrued interest—that's all. It is true that the new issue bonds will not be turned over to the purchasers until October 1st. It was so stated in the advertisement for bids; so stated in the bids, as it was likewise stated that Georgia bonds with accrued interest will be accepted in payment. Now, that knocks the straw man into a cocked hat—does it?"

"It certainly seems so."

"I think I know who that interview came from, and I think I know the motive of the man who talked in the 'special,' but I'm not dead certain and will not say. It was a reflection upon the governor, the state treasurer, and upon the people of Georgia, but happily it is as easily answered as falling off a log."

"Was not the sale of the $1,900,000 new issue of bonds a good bargain for Georgia?"

"It was a first rate sale—but mind you I don't claim the credit for it, nor does Governor Gordon claim the credit for it. The credit for that sale belongs to the people of Georgia. That sale puts the state in a most comfortable position to take up the bonds which mature on January 1st, 1889."

"How?"

"In this way: $2,141,000 in bonds will mature at that time. The next legislature will levy a sinking fund for two years which will sum up $200,000. That sum added to the $1,900,000 which will be received in October will make $2,100,000, won't it, and by taking $41,000 of the premium received on the new issue of bonds and adding thereto we have $2,141,000, the exact amount necessary to take up the bonds falling due in January, 1889. You see instead of being reduced to the necessity of taxing the people to make up this sum we make it up by simply drawing on the premium, which we got on the new issue of bonds. But for drawing from this premium it would have been necessary to levy a tax of a fraction over one-tenth of a mill on the people to make up the $2,141,000."

"The premium received for the new issue was large, was it not?"

"It was in the cool. It footed up over $80,000, and was the biggest premium ever received on a sale of bonds in Georgia—that's all."

ROYAL BAKING POWDER.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

ABSOLUTELY PURE.

For quick raising, the Royal Baking Powder is superior to all other leavening agents. It is absolutely pure and wholesome and of the highest leavening power. It is always uniform in strength and quality and never fails to make light, sweet, most palatable and nutritive food. Bread, biscuits, muffins, cake, etc., raised with Royal Baking Powder may be eaten hot without distressing results to the most delicate digestive organs. It will keep in any climate without deterioration.

Prof. H. A. Mott, U. S. Government Chemist, after examining officially the principal baking powders of the country, reported:

"The Royal Baking Powder is absolutely pure, for I have so found it in many tests made both for that company and the United States Government.

"Because of the facilities that company have for obtaining perfectly pure cream of tartar, and for other reasons dependent upon the proper proportions of the same, and the method of its preparation, the Royal Baking Powder is undoubtedly the purest and most reliable baking powder offered to the public.

Kidney Trouble Relieved.

Gentlemen—I have been a sufferer with kidney troubles for seventeen years, and have been treated by prominent physicians of this state and Alabama. I have used large quantities of medicines advertised to cure blood and kidney diseases without receiving the slightest benefit. About six weeks ago I suffered such intense pain—scarcely being able to breathe at times—I concluded to try "Hunnicutt's Rheumatic Cure," and after using one bottle was entirely and absolutely cured, and for the first time in seventeen years I am without the slightest pain, and earnestly recommend all who suffer to give your cure a trial. Yours truly,

NEW YORK STOCKS.

Stocks as Reported at the New York Stock Exchange.

NEW YORK, July 16.—The stock market today was again fairly active but it exhibited a general drooping tendency, especially during the forenoon, when marked declines were established in many of the active stocks, and though there was a moderate rally in the afternoon the market closed off from ⅛ to one per cent generally. Some large interests have for some time been working for a reaction in this market, but buying power has heretofore been too strong for them. Today, however, there was a general movement to take the profit accrued upon the rise of the past week and a half, and some of the larger traders seeing the drift of events sold their list freely, pressure being specially severe against St. Paul, Lake Shore, New England and Burlington and Quincy. There was still very good buying in the market, however, and many of the specialties upon which there was no pressure recorded a sharp advance, and southern specialties were particularly prominent, such as Chattanooga, Richmond and West Point, preferred, and East Tennessee stocks. News of the day was not of an encouraging character, and strikes on the Wabash and Manitoba and further cuts in freight rates had their influence in bringing about a decline. London and some outside interests were moderate sellers today, but the bulk of the stocks pressed upon the market were for local account. Market closed weak at or near lowest prices. Business of the day foots up 271,000 shares. Active list is almost invariably lower, and Louisville and Nashville lost 1¼, New England 1¼, Lackawanna and Lake Shore one per cent. and others fractional amounts.

Exchange dull but steady at 487½@489¾. Money easy at 1@1½. Subtreasury balances: Coin $157,150,000; currency, $18,586,000. Governments dull but steady; 4s 127½; 4½s 107⅝. State bonds dull but steady.

NEW YORK, July 16—Hubbard, Price & Co., in their circular today, say: The uncertainty regarding August acts as a bar to business and restricts it to small dimensions. At the opening today the market was firmly held by some buying orders for August, while free sellers for the new crop met with very little demand, and it took very little pressure to shade values. The close was steady with August two points higher and the other positions from 1@3 points lower than Saturday.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Features of the Speculative Movement in Grain and Provisions.

CHICAGO, July 16—The feeling in wheat today was plainly bullish. There was nothing in the way of sensational news, and there was no plunging about in the market, but after opening ⅜c over the close on Saturday there was an active market with ½c range most of the session, with prices held pretty close on 1c advance for the most part. Bull news most apparent was strong cables and a fair export demand with spot wheat 1d dearer at Liverpool. There was also considerable bad crop news, but, in the words of a well-informed broker: "Its almost useless to talk or publish it, as we will surely be laughed at." Export clearances at New York were 83,000 bushels. The decrease in the visible supply was 616,000 bushels. Prices ranged for August at 80c up to 80¾c, down to 79¾c, up again to 80¾c and shortly before the close was steady at 80¼c, or 1c over Saturday's close. The final price was 80¼c.

Corn was fairly active and the feeling generally easier. The market opened at about the closing prices of Saturday, was steady for a time, then became steadier and closed ⅜@½c lower than Saturday. The influences governing the market were largely local. The visible supply did not show as large a decrease as generally expected, and estimated receipts for tomorrow are larger, which has a tendency to create a weaker feeling. Local stocks decreased 1,100,000 bushels. Shipping houses were buying moderately today. The visible supply decreased 836,000 bushels. The cash market was steady, there being a very fair demand for both the lower and better grades, and prices were ¼@½c easier. Withdrawals for export continue rather liberal, with a large proportion grading contract.

In oats the tendency was to dullness and easier prices, this was due to an influence which unfavorable markets for other cereals exerted in view of a decline which else were scoured, changes in the speculative deliveries oats and were slight and showed that there was still some soundness underlying the market. July delivery was in moderate request and ruled even ¼c higher, but the new crop deliveries ranged ⅛@¼c lower, though the closing quotations exhibited no essential change from the closing prices of last week.

A firmer feeling developed in provisions and although the closing prices on all speculative articles were not all extreme outside figures and an advance of 22½c over Saturday's closing figures was recorded in lard and 12½@15c in short ribs. The offerings of products were small and a repurchase of 5,000 barrels of pork sold Saturday through a new set of brokers today created the impression that a big operator wanted to cover his shorts and the price was advanced 25c, but reacted 7½c; August selling at $13.20@$13.40 and closing at $13.37½; January $12.80@$12.85. The English houses bought lard and August sold at 8.25@8.32½c and closed at the top. January 7.45@7.42½ and closed at 7.52½. Short ribs were firm; August sold at 7.60@7.70 and closed at 7.70; January 6.52½@6.50.

MARKETS FOR ATLANTA

Alderman Howell and Councilman Moran Interviewed—An Important Interview.

"Yes," said Councilman P. J. Moran, in reply to a question, "the prospect is fair for the establishment of a markethouse in Atlanta. The city has now a population of 70,000, and still clings to the village idea of having vegetables, etc., hawked around from house to house, with no inspection. It is no wonder that people sicken and die when fed upon stale vegetables and meat which could never pass an official inspection, and no system by which the business can be controlled. We need two markethouses, one on each side of the railroad. At these markethouses, where the supply business will be concentrated, there will be a rigid inspection of everything offered for sale. Housekeepers, instead of laying in, as they now do, supplies for several days, can, each morning, repair to the markethouse, where for less money, and in quantities to meet each day's requirements, they can get the best and the freshest which the market affords. The market committee is now collecting information which will enable it to put the market houses under the best of government."

"Where will the money come from?"

"The city council has authority to accept a markethouse built by private individuals, by paying a rental equal to eight per cent on the investment. The house thus built, passes under control of and must be managed by the city, which has an option of purchase within fifteen years. It is estimated that the receipts from the market privileges will much more than equal the interest thus paid. We have assurances that bids are forthcoming which will enable us to go to work in a reasonable time."

On the subject of public buildings, an interview with Alderman Albert Howell, in the Macon Telegraph, will be of interest. Alderman Howell said:

"I want to see the day when the city will have a first-class public market, one that will be a credit to Atlanta. I think we should have two markets, one in north and the other in south Atlanta, located where the people can get access to them easily. Then, again, I would like to see our city own a city hall and public station, the two buildings near each other. This would be better than having them in separate localities."

"Well, when do you look for these buildings to be constructed?"

"I am looking now, and have been looking ever since I was elected to the council. One of the first things I did after taking my seat was to make an effort to secure the construction of a city hall. I failed to get the hall, but have by no means abandoned the matter, and will make another attempt when the time comes to have my plans carried out."

"When will that time be?" was asked of the alderman.

"Oh, not now; our visible income for this year has already been proportioned out to the various departments of the city government, and nothing can be done until next year, when we will see our way clear. If we cannot then appropriate enough money to put up the buildings, we can, at least, appropriate a sufficient sum to buy the ground upon which to construct them. There are two good reasons why we should buy and pay for the locations that we want, and that are suitable for such purposes. One of them is that when we own the lots we will have made a start, and the other is that we should secure our locations before available lots climb out of our reach in point of valuation. If we wait much longer, centrally located property, suitable for our purposes, will cost us too much money. We should secure them as early as possible, and get the advantage of the advance in these values, which is certain to come."

"How much money would it take to buy the lots that are needed for these improvements?"

"That I can't say, but a good deal less than we will have to pay in a few years from now, as property is advancing very rapidly. I have not priced any property suitable for these purposes; I have no lots picked out, and don't care whose lots we buy, so that we get what we want and get them at reasonable figures."

"Which, in your opinion, does the city most need, a city hall, a public market or a police headquarters?"

"I am not prepared to say. I think Atlanta needs them all badly enough. It would be very advantageous to the city, and a great convenience to our citizens to have a city hall where all the officers would be bunched together in one building. Then, when it comes to the blessings of a public market, the good that we would derive from one cannot be overestimated, and as for a police headquarters, a visit to the one that we now have would convince any one that we need a new building for our police department, and should have one as soon as possible. I am unable to say which of the three institutions we need most. Probably some member of the council can tell you."

IT IS A "LONE" OFFICE NOW.

Sale of the Safe and Fixtures of the Nelson Benefit Scheme.

Another transaction brought the Nelson swindle to the surface again yesterday, the safe and fixtures formerly used in the North Side Savings bank, being sold.

The sign that tells of a loan office should be changed.

The safe was bought by Mr. C. A. Davis, of Greensboro, and went for $464, and is considered a bargain at that figure.

Recorder Anderson took away the confederate money that Mr. Nelson left behind, and has a sort of double couvenir in his roll of bills.

Major Grasty invested in the counter and fixtures and Mr. Beerman, of the Kimball house, bought the roller top desk that was once Mr. Nelson's chief delight.

The safe, confederate money, desk and counter were left by Mr. Nelson and as he has not been heard from it is supposed that he has no further use for them. The amount realized by th sale was about $700.

THE VETERANS.

Regular Monthly Meeting of the Fulton County Association Last Night.

The Fulton County Veterans' association held their regular monthly meeting last night at their new hall on Broad street.

The attendance was good.

President W. L. Calhoun announced that the committee had decided to postpone the dedication of the new hall until the month of September.

Secretary Frank Myers tendered his resignation as secretary, which was accepted, but a motion was carried that Mr. Myers hold the office until his successor be elected.

Secretary Myers read this letter from the Hon. Jefferson Davis:

BEAUVOIR, Miss., July 2, 1888.—Frank M. Myers, secretary F. C. A. Dear sir: Yours of the 19th inst., informing me of my election to honorary membership in the Fulton County Veterans' association, reached my home during my absence, hence the delay in this acknowledgement.

Please make my grateful acceptance of this honor known to your associates, and assure them of the sincere gratification which their recognition of me, as one of themselves, has afforded. Fraternally,

JEFFERSON DAVIS.

The reading of the letter was received with applause, and on motion of Mr. Gadsden King it was ordered to be spread upon the minutes and filed among the archives of the association.

Dr. Divine stated that he had just returned from a brief visit to Newnan. He said that great preparations are being made in that city for the grand reunion of the 1st, 7th and 12th Georgia regiments, which takes place next Saturday. The people of Newnan expected to entertain 10,000 people on that day. Arrangements are being perfected for one of the greatest barbecues ever given in Georgia. There will be 200 carcasses and the tables will contain 30,000 feet of lumber. The expenses of the barbecue will foot up about $1,000.

All confederate veterans were cordially invited to be present, and he hoped that all the veterans in Atlanta would go to Newnan next Saturday and enjoy the grand occasion.

Eleven new members were added to the association last night, which swells the membership to about 350.

The Old Guard.

After the association adjourned Captain William Ezzard, of the old Gate City Guard, and a number of the members, held an informal meeting at which it was decided that about twenty-five of this company now living in Atlanta will attend the reunion at Newnan.

The Gate City Guard, at the beginning of the war, was the finest military company in Atlanta. A number of the most prominent gentlemen in the city belonged to the organization, which was extremely popular. The company fought through the war in the First Georgia regiment.

THE TELEPHONE.

A Few Hints That Will be of Great Benefit to Both the Operator and Subscriber.

Wonderful progress has been made in the manner of transmitting messages from one part of the city to another, and even from city to city in the past ten years, and it is very difficult to imagine what will be the advancement in the next ten years. If twenty years ago you had said to your neighbor that you would be able to sit in your room and talk with him fifty miles in another city, he would have unbesitatingly called you an idiot or a fit subject for the lunatic asylum. Yet one of the largest enterprises of the present day is the operation of the telephone system, and by the way, one of the most perplexing of the whole category of profession. For instance, the many calls, ladies not excepted, demands and threats of being reported to the general manager, when, in reality, it is oftener than otherwise not the fault of the office operator, but the person wishing to use the telephone, not being posted as to how to make his calls. Yet they hello away, and, if they can't both hear and see the answer, a volume of threats and a cloud of thunder is hurled at the the operator, which works him up to such a pitch that his nerves are all unstrung, so all hands get out of sorts. By following these instructions much time and annoyance can be avoided: When you go to the telephone you will simply say 28 on 572; the bell rings. You then say send me six bottles Dr. Woolley's Invigorine, which relieves weak nerves, kidney complaints, dyspepsia, constipation, as well as the many troubles incident to the change of life, which is a great blessing to woman. Delays are dangerous and every one should be careful to look well into the matter.

Lighter, cheaper and better than the best rubber hose.

Made on the same principle as the rubber-lined hose used in fire departments, which last for years. The cotton duck used in all rubber hose draws in water, wherever exposed, as a wick absorbs oil, and being confined by rubber generates a sulphurous gas, quickly destroying the best rubber hose. The "Spiral" Hose, having no outside covering to imprison the moisture, will dry like a towel.

THE CITY'S SICK

Will Not be Sent to Ivy Street Hospital Hereafter.

Dr. Powell Before the City Council — Mr. Beutell as Mayor Pro Tem.

When the hour for meeting arrived, it was seen that neither the mayor nor the mayor pro tempore was present.

Clerk Goldsmith called the body to order and said it would be in order to elect a mayor pro tempore in the absence of Mayor Cooper and Alderman Collier.

Thereupon Mr. Haas offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

Whereas, By information received through the clerk of council, the mayor and mayor pro tempore are both absent from the city, therefore,

Resolved, That the absence aforesaid exists, and that the general council proceed to elect another mayor pro tempore in accordance with an act of the general assembly amending the charter of the city of Atlanta, approved December 24th, 1886.

"Gentlemen, nominations are in order," said Clerk Goldsmith.

Mr. Thompson placed Mr. H. M. Beutell, the senior member from the fifth ward, in nomination for the place. No other nominations being made, Mr. Beutell was, on call of roll, unanimously elected.

Mayor Pro-tem Beutell then ascended the tribune, and called the general council to order. He made a happy little speech, thanking the members for this mark of esteem, and declaring his purpose to meet the expectation of his friends. His words were received with applause, and several present remarked that he filled the chair gracefully enough to be called to it by the people some time yet.

The usual reports were read and adopted, and a large number of petitions came in and were appropriately referred.

A Question of Pure Milk.

The board of health submitted the following:

To the Hon. Mayor and General Council—Gentlemen: Within the last two weeks the board of health has caused the dairies, within a radius of six miles of the city, to be inspected. Some of them were found in an abominable filthy condition, and disgustingly managed in many respects.

The board respectfully recommends the adoption, immediately, of the accompanying ordinance. With it, it is believed that adequate protection can be afforded the people. Without it, or some similar measure, the people are at the mercy of incompetent and irresponsible persons. This ordinance has been submitted to the criticism of the assistant city attorney, and is approved by him. It is proper to say that a few dairies were found in excellent condition, and in every way well managed.

Respectfully,
JAMES B. BAIRD, Secretary.
July 16, 1888.

THE ORDINANCE.

Be it ordained by the mayor and general council, that after the passage of this ordinance it shall be unlawful for any person to sell or offer for sale within the limits of the city of Atlanta any impure, adulterated, sophisticated or unwholesome milk, or to sell or offer for sale as pure milk, any milk to which water or any other substance shall have been added which in effect injures its quality or lessens its value; or to sell or offer for sale the milk from any cow that may be sick, diseased or suffering from any bodily condition or disorder liable to render her milk unfit or unsafe to be used as food; or the milk obtained from any cow kept in a filthy or unventilated stable or building, or an offensively filthy lot, pen or shed, or that may be fed upon food or allowed to drink any liquid which may so effect the milk that consumers shall be exposed to the risk of sickness or disease therefrom.

Sec. 2. Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of the foregoing ordinance shall, after conviction in the recorder's court, be subject to a fine of not more than one hundred dollars, or imprisonment for not more than thirty days, either or both, in the discretion of the court.

The report was adopted and the above ordinance was passed.

The Ivy Street Hospital.

The only matter that caused even a ripple of excitement was the report of the relief committee regarding the Ivy street hospital.

The report was presented by Mr. Thompson, and was read by the clerk. It was as follows:

To His Honor the Mayor and Members of the General Council: Gentlemen: When the present relief committee were appointed in January last, they were not sufficiently conversant with the facts as to feel warranted in making any recommendations relative to the care of the unfortunate sick, who are compelled to accept the city's charity as to advise any change in the compensation which has been allowed during the year 1887, preferring rather to wait a few months until they could make some intelligent recommendation relative thereto, in the meantime making the same disposition of and allowing the same compensation for the care of the sick as had obtained during the preceeding year. The experience of the past six months, and the knowledge obtained during the time lead your committee to believe that our dependent sick do not receive the care and attention the amount paid by the city entitles them to, or that can be secured for them without additional expense. We, therefore, respectfully recommend that the amount of $125 per month contracted to be paid the Ivy street hospital for the care of colored sick, during the year 1887, and continued without contract during that part of 1888 now past, shall be discontinued after the payment of the installment for July is made, and that hereafter no city patients, white or black, shall be sent to the Ivy street hospital by any branch of the city government. Very respectfully,

L. B. NELSON,
J. M. STEPHENS,
A. P. THOMPSON,
P. J. MORAN.

Mr. Thompson moved that the report be adopted.

"I observe Dr. Powell in the room," said Mr. Hemphill, "and I move that he be heard before the report is voted on."

"I move to amend that motion," said Mr. Haas, "by allowing Dr. Powell five minutes in which to present his case."

This was agreed to.

"Before I proceed to speak," remarked Dr. Powell, as he came forward, "I hope the clerk will read two other papers regarding Ivy Street hospital."

The two papers referred to were communications addressed to the general council. One of these papers was signed by a considerable number of ladies, who petitioned the council not to withhold any appropriations. These ladies commended in the highest terms the management of Ivy street hospital. The other paper was in very much the same strain, and was signed by the trustees of the hospital.

"Proceed, Dr. Powell," remarked the presiding officer.

Dr. Powell said that he need not consume the five minutes granted him; it would not require that much time to demonstrate to the council that the report of the relief committee ought not to be adopted. Dr. Powell went on to show how the hospital has been managed. He spoke of the good that it had accomplished in the past and predicted that it would be still more useful in the future. He explained how it had been maintained and enlarged upon the necessity of the city's maintaining it on the same basis. He spoke of his personal exertions in its behalf, averted to the many sacrifices he had made to keep it going. In his remarks the doctor referred to Mr. Lee and others connected with the institution and spoke rather harshly about their conduct.

At this point Mr. Thompson interrupted him and asked that he speak more respectfully of those officers.

Dr. Powell proceeded to say that there were some persons whose sole motive seemed to be to break up his college. These persons have been getting up all this movement for the purpose of injuring Atlanta's greatest charity.

Mr. P. J. Moran, interrupting, asked Dr. Powell who these persons were.

Dr. Powell—Mr. Nelson and the members of the relief committee.

Mr. P. J. Moran—Then I ask the chair to make Dr. Powell speak with proper respect of the agents of this body, who are acting officially. He has no right to impugn their motives.

Mayor Pro Tem Beutell—The point made by Councilman Moran is well taken, and Dr. Powell will please confine himself within parliamentary limits.

Dr. Powell said he was ready to answer any questions the members desired to ask him.

Question after question was plied in rapid succession by Mr. Haas, Mr. Mecaslin, Mr. Thompson, Mr. Howell and others. These the doctor answered without hesitation.

It was discovered that Dr. Powell had consumed about twelve minutes, and time was called.

Mr. Hemphill moved to allow the doctor an additional five minutes.

Dr. Powell had finished, and he retired to the rear of the chamber.

Mr. Thompson said that, as a member of the relief committee, he had carefully investigated the matter, and was convinced that much better arrangements could be made which would cost the city less than the expense of running the Ivy Street hospital.

Mr. Thompson was asked what better arrangements could me made, and he replied that very good arrangements could be made with the St. Joseph's Infirmary for the white patients and that the colored patients could be put in respectable colored families.

The question was then put: "Shall the report of the committee be adopted?"

Every member except Mr. Hemphill voted in the affirmative.

This ended the matter, and Dr. Powell left the place in disgust.

Liquor and Beer Licenses.

The police committee made an unfavorable report on the petition of Mr. J. Lynch to run a beer saloon on Smith street, and the report was adopted.

A license to retail beer at No. 501 Marietta street was granted to G. W. Walton.

A license to retail beer at No. 12 Ivy street was granted to Woolfolk & Reed.

A license to retail liquor at No. 8 East Hunter street was granted to Frank Kelly.

A petition of the saloon keepers to change the hours for opening and closing their saloons was reported on adversely by the police committee, and the report was adopted.

Miscellaneous Matters.

Three of the gentlemen who were at the last meeting elected managers of election declined to serve, and their places were filled as follows: Fourth ward, M. C. Martin; sixth ward, E. A. Robertson and E. H. Norris.

The Hon. Frank Rice was absent for the first time since he has been a member of the general council.

Mayor Pro Tempore Beutell presided with much dignity and suavity.

There was hardly a quorum present during the entire meeting.

Mr. Hemphill offered a resolution, which was adopted, that $410 back pay due Mrs. Echols be paid.

A resolution was offered by Mr. Thompson and adopted that a committee of three and the mayor be appointed to confer with the committee on behalf of the house of refuge for juvenile criminals. The chair appointed Messrs. Thompson, Haas and Tanner.

The market house matter was not reached.

Neither was the Georgia avenue matter.

Among the mass of petitions very few are of any public interest.

The meeting, which was very dull, adjourned shortly before 5 o'clock.

THE OTHER SIDE.

The Ivy Street Hospital Advocated Strongly by Dr. Powell and Others.

"I am not discouraged nor depressed, but I confess I am greatly surprised at the council's action in ruining Ivy street hospital, or trying to ruin it. All I ask is that the public shall suspend sentence till I can be heard from." Thus spoke Dr. T. S. Powell last night.

"Have you nothing to say now?"

"All I wish to say at present is that a large number of the most honorable gentlemen of Atlanta uphold my management of the Ivy street hospital. They publish the following of their own free will, and I hope everybody will read it before passing judgment.

By invitation of the trustees of the Ivy street hospital and the ladies who organized it, the following gentlemen visited the hospital this morning and inspected it: William A. Moore, W. A. Hemphill, F. M. Richardson, G. T. Dodd, J. A. Ansley, Judge J. T. Nisbet, Dr. J. W. Lee, Councilman Allen, Rev. Mr. Davis, Dr. R. C. Word and William Laird.

These gentlemen went all through the hospital, and then met in the office. Mr. William A. Moore was called to the chair, and Mr. Laird was requested to act as secretary.

Dr. T. S. Powell presented a communication of the trustees to the city council, and the letter was read by Mr. Laird. It congratulated Atlanta on her commercial institutions, etc., upon the healthfulness of the city, and upon the fact that the good women of Atlanta had established a private hospital with facilities amply sufficient to take care of all the needs of the suffering in city cases, and to care for a goodly number of private cases besides.

The letter states that the sick receive free medical attention from the able faculty of a medical college, and are better cared for than in many city hospitals. The city appropriation to the hospital was less than the amount paid by Mobile, a city of half the population of Atlanta, to the medical attendants alone.

The communication closes with a request to the city council to restore the appropriation to the Ivy Street hospital, and is signed by S. B. Hoyt, John Prather and R. A. Hemphill, trustees.

After the reading of the communication, Mr. W. A. Hemphill moved that the meeting add to the communication, "We, the undersigned, after personal inspection unite in the above request."

This was ananimously carried and was signed by Messrs. J. A. Ansley, F. M. Richardson, Wm. Laird, W. A. Moore, J. W. Lee, G. T. Dodd, Dr. R. C. Word and Rev. C. C. Davis.

The meeting then adjourned.

Several of the gentlemen as they went out indorsed the hospital in strong terms.

"You may be sure," said the doctor, as the reporter left him, "that I shall have something more to say in due time."

THE NEW HOSPITAL.

What the Committee Proposes to Do in the Matter.

During the latter part of the past winter a large number of physicians and other citizens met in the courthouse to discuss measures looking toward the establishment of a general city hospital.

There were nearly one hundred physicians present, representing every shade of medical opinion. In addition to these there were numerous prominent and influential citizens who joined in the discussion.

Resolutions were introduced, stating in emphatic language Atlanta's urgent need of a general city hospital—a hospital free from sectarianism and political control.

Many speakers discussed these resolutions, deprecating strongly the totally inadequate provisions made for the sick poor of the great city, and urging the building of a general hospital. When the resolutions were voted upon only one vote was cast against them.

A committee, consisting of Drs. J. P. Logan, F. H. Orme, W. P. Nicolson, W. M. Durham, H. P. Cooper, Judge W. L. Calhoun, Mr. S. P. Inman and the Rev. Dr. H. H. Tucker, was appointed to lay the matter before the city council.

Mr. L. B. Nelson, chairman of the relief committee of the city council, suggested that it would be well, previous to appearing before the council, to gather all possible information relative to the cost of building, equipping and maintaining such a hospital as the needs of the city call for.

Acting on this advice, Dr. H. H. Tucker and Dr. Nicolson were appointed a sub-committee to correspond with other cities having good hospitals in order to gain the desired information.

Answers were received to many of these letters, and the committee is now in position to answer all the questions that can be propounded when the matter comes before the council.

It has been deemed expedient by the committee to postpone appearing before the council until early in the fall. Then the matter will be pushed through.

This postponement was thought best because the city treasury has been greatly depleted by the large appropriations, made for street paving, etc., and the committee did not wish to present the project until the council should have some money to appropriate. The taxes of this year will furnish an abundance.

"We wish to let the people of Atlanta know," said Dr. H. P. Cooper, from whom the above facts were obtained, "that the committee will quietly but vigorously push the work until our great city has a general hospital, conducted not for the furtherance of private or sectarian interests, but solely for the good of the sick and helpless in our midst."

TWO NEW TEACHERS

Miss Colquitt and Miss Breckinridge

Their Object in So Doing—How Atlanta's Public Building Will be Enlarged—Other Gossip.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—[Special.]—Miss Colquitt, the daughter of Senator Colquitt, and Miss Breckinridge, the daughter of Congressman W. C. P. Breckenridge, of Kentucky, have made formal application for positions as teachers in the district public schools. The school board will meet this week and the two young ladies will be assigned as teachers in the high schools. Their object in selecting these positions is said to be for the purpose of seeking training in the best regulated and most thorough schools in the union, in order that they might return to their respective states and, by teaching, endeavor to improve the present systems of public schools. This is undoubtedly a praiseworthy and commendable undertaking for these two young ladies, which is calculated to prove of value to both Georgia and Kentucky.

PROGRESS OF THE MILLS BILL.

The house is in earnest, and today the tariff bill was almost completed. Mr. Mills said this afternoon that it would be completed either tomorrow afternoon or Thursday morning. He will make a closing speech Saturday, after which he will call the previous question for a vote. A vote could be taken earlier, but it is thought advisable to give more time to get absentees together. Telegrams are being sent to them to return at once. Mr. Mills says he is confident the bill will be passed, by at least ten or twelve majority. He is of the opinion that the senate will devote a month to speech-making before they pass their substitute.

Messrs. Reed, Cannon, Burrows, Hitt, Bayley and Gear, the leaders on the republican side of the house, met last night and discussed the tariff situation. They decided it would be unnecessary to oppose the bill further than to cast their votes against it, and let the entire matter be attended to in the senate, where the republicans have a majority.

THE CENSUS.

Representative Cox, chairman of the census committee, has made a calculation based upon the censuses of 1870 and 1880, and has come to the conclusion that the census of 1890 will show the population of the United States to be 64,476,000. He today received a letter from Edward Atkinson, who had made a similar calculation, with the result of 64,500,000. He therefore, concludes that his calculation will prove very nearly correct.

CONGRESSMAN CANDLER AND THE WOMEN.

There is a movement on foot by the friends of the Blair bill to have an evening set apart for the consideration of the bill in the house. However, as the bill has many vigorous opponents, it is very doubtful if its friends can succeed in their efforts. Mr. Candler, the chairman of the committee, is daily besieged by dozens of women who are here lobbying for the bill, and were it not for the fact that the majority of them are very aged or cranks, it would not be so unpleasant for the gallant little man from Gainesville.

On account of the absence of many senators today, the confirmation of Mr. Fuller's nomination as chief justice has been postponed until Thursday. There is now no doubt of his confirmation.

NOMINATIONS SENT IN.

Among the nominations sent to the senate today were two following of southern interest. John E. Bacon, of South Carolina, now charge d'affaires to be minister resident of the United States to Paraquay and Uruguay. Charles L. Scott, of Alabama, now minister resident and consul general, to be envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States to Venezuela.

ATLANTA'S PUBLIC BUILDINGS.

In relation to Atlanta's public building, Mr. Spears, who went to Atlanta, has made a report, and recommend that a large building for the use of the post office be constructed during the present building one story high, about 2,500 square feet space for the post office. He recommends placing one more regular story on the building together with an attic story, so that the court room be placed one story high with sufficient room to accommodate the needs of the court. His plan then is to put in an elevator. Plans are now being drawn and will be completed in about three weeks, when that advertisements for bids will be put out for thirty days, and the work will be contracted for.

Mr. Spears reports that there is not sufficient ground to construct wings, for if it were done the building would be exposed to fire from adjacent buildings. He suggests that the entire tract could be let out for the room adjacent to the postoffice this winter and that the work could be done without inconvenience to the occupants of the building. Next spring or summer the other work could be done, after which time he is of the opinion that additional apartments of the building, save those in the postoffice floor, would have to seek other quarters. He reports the present work very substantial and the addition of another story will be perfectly safe.

ATLANTA'S BARRACKS.

In the sundry civil appropriation bill there is an item of $250,000 for work on government posts. Out of this sum the quartermaster general proposes to spend $75,000, or as much possibly, at Atlanta; $50,000 at San Antonio, $65,000 at St. Paul, and $25,000 at Buffalo. In addition to this there is an item of $100,000 for the construction of barracks, etc., at Fort Romney, Kansas. This was placed in the bill upon the ground that at that place there is a reservation for instruction for the use of cannon. The department here insists that the barracks at Atlanta was intended only to cost $200,000, but $100,000 has been expended, and yet the work is not finished. They intend to finish it, however, but say it will take time and much more money, and are complaining on the fact that they are to cost much more than was originally intended. The $75,000 has been expended at once.

THE EIGHT-HOUR LAW.

A Bill Passes the Senate Providing for Claims.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—In the senate among bills reported and placed on the calendar were the following: Senate bill for donation to Tampa, Fla., of Fort Brooke military reservation at that place.

Mr. Walthall offered a resolution which was agreed to) calling on the secretary of the treasury for information as to what steps had been taken for the removal of the present quarantine station from Ship Island, Miss.

Mr. Allison, from the committee on appropriations, reported back the sundry civil appropriation bill, and said he would soon call it up for consideration.

The senate then took up, and after some discussion, passed the bill to place John
